

Pre-Christmas Travel Rush Periled by Pilots' Walkout

American Hit By Strike; EAL Still Out

Chicago —AP— A strike by some 1,500 pilots today shut down American airlines, grounding the second of the nation's major air carriers on the eve of the holiday travel rush.

The pilots, members of the Air Line Pilots association struck the big American carrier system at midnight (local time) Friday night.

Negotiations in Chicago broke down with an ominous statement from an ALPA spokesman that "it looks like a long, hard strike."

The strike, stemming from a 18-month dispute between American and the pilots' union posed a handicap for the Christmas season air passenger travel.

Strike at Eastern
Eastern airlines is in the throes of a 26-day strike, initiated Nov. 24 when flight engineers and machinists walked out over wage demands.

In New York a company spokesman said the pilots, one hour before the strike deadline, had renewed a demand for a 75-hour work month instead of an 85-hour work month for pilots on jet aircraft.

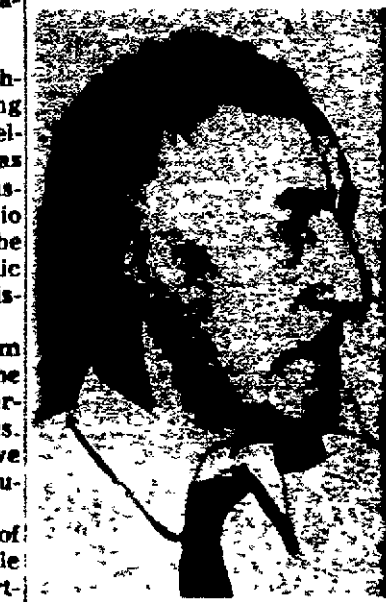

C. R. Smith, president of American, said in a statement:

"No responsible air line could agree to the present demands of the Air Line Pilots association. The demands are arbitrary and unjustified. There is no good reason for a reduction in hours. At this time, some of the pilots are flying 10 days a month, with 20 days a month off, and it would be difficult to improve these working conditions."

The airline announced that all flights were cancelled through next Friday.

The company said it would keep open ticket and reservations offices to help passengers secure alternate travel arrangements.

It was estimated that more than 24,000 passengers were knocked out of their Christmas travel reservations. About 5,000 of them had bookings on flights from New York area airports.

Howard L. George, 83-year-old retired farmer and kitchen helper, tunes his radio in quarters he shares with several other oldsters at La Crosse. He was revealed Thursday as having spent $1,500 of his savings to hire private detectives for a last review of the disappearance five years ago of 15-year-old babysitter Evelyn Hartley.

Seek to Charge Union Official With Contempt

Washington —AP— Senate rackets investigators want Ohio Teamster Boss William Presser prosecuted on charges of contempt of congress.

The rackets committee recommended unanimously Friday that Presser, a close associate of Teamster President James R. Hoffa, be cited on five counts of contempt.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said the committee also is asking that the justice department "determine whether Presser has been guilty of perjury and the willful destruction and mutilation of records under subpoena."

Wanted Man Found Dead

George Clarkieu, 58,
Sought for Taking
Federal Tax Money

Carlsbad, N. M. —AP— A Green Bay, Wis., insurance man, charged with embezzlement, was found dying early today in a Carlsbad motel.

Officers said the body of George Clarkieu, 58, bore no marks and ordered an autopsy to determine "cause of death. A companion of the dead man, Duane D. Hoepfner, 23, of Detroit, Mich., was undergoing questioning.

Clarkieu disappeared from Green Bay several weeks ago, and was charged in a warrant issued by Brown County Dist. Atty. Robert Pettit with embezzling more than $10,000 of state and federal income tax payments from 1954 to 1957 from clients whose returns he made out.

Justice of the Peace Dick Floyd said he ordered an autopsy. He said Hoepfner had summoned the motel manager saying his friend was ill, and the manager called an ambulance when he saw Clarkieu's condition.

Experts Say It's Not Possible

Red China's Boasts of Huge Farm Production Viewed as Incredible

Washington —AP— Red China's boasts of a huge expansion in farm production this year are viewed by skeptical U. S. farm experts as incredible.

In a survey of the world food situation, the U. S. foreign agricultural service said Friday there are indications that a substantial increase in communist China's food production did occur this year.

Foreign Sources
But it added that information from various foreign sources indicates that the Chinese reds' production claims are of "such magnitude as to make them incredible." The service added:

"It is not believed possible to increase agricultural production of food grains as much as 80 per cent in one year. This, the Chinese communists claim to have done, and without the use of large quantities of chemical fertilizers."

In the same survey, the service said its information indicates that Soviet Union farm production probably set a new record this year.

The report said 1958 Soviet acreage probably was not much larger than last year's but that favorable weather undoubtedly boosted total output to a new high. The report added:

"While Soviet crop production figures are not available, indications are that the out-grains will not be far from the 1956 record level. The 1956 production of corn, sugar beets, potatoes and sunflower seed (the most important oilseed crop) are also expected."

The report estimated Russia has increased its farm acreage by about 24 per cent since 1953.

Some Increase
In acknowledging that some increase in Chinese red output probably did occur, the report said:

"Favorable weather and a great work effort in which peasants were joined by forced labor from every sector of the economy are the principal factors to which increased yields may be attributed."

Satellite Continues in Space Orbit

Washington —AP— America's pride of the heavens soared high around the world today ready to send anew a presidential Yuletide message.

Jubilant architects of the 4-ton Atlas said it would be early afternoon before they decide about retriggering their talking satellite to broadcast tape-recorded words from President Eisenhower.

The next step, when the scientists figure they have enough initial data on hand, will be to erase the message and send up another to be released by remote control as Atlas continues its travels.

Second Phase
This second phase of the pioneering project promised to point the way to a revolution in communications — mass transmissions of sound and pictures to anywhere on earth through a satellite network.

And in the hours following Atlas' mighty blastoff from Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site Thursday night, statesmen assessed its boost to U. S. strength in the great east-west struggle.

Atlas struck another propaganda blow for this country at 3:15 p. m. Friday when, zipping at 17,000 m. p. h. over Cape Canaveral, it rebroadcast as scheduled a short Eisenhower message recorded Tuesday and carried aloft in the nose cone.

But He'll be Around

Santa's All Shook Up By New Hazards Aloft

Washington —AP— "There I was on my back at 30,000 feet," wheezed Santa Claus, "and — whoosh! — this thing whizzed past me and just after I stopped shaking — whoosh! — this other thing came whooshing past me."

"There, there, dear," soothed his wife, "drink this nice cup of tranquilizer and relax. After all, you've got a big job ahead of you."

Too Dangerous
"I do, do I?" said Santa, rising up on one elbow. "Maybe I won't do it this year. Maybe I'll let those sweet little kiddies get their own presents this year. This delivery job is getting too dangerous."

"I was making this test run, see, just checking, and these satellite things came whooshing past me from all directions."

"Mom, I'm getting too old for this job. It's time I thought about my own social security," Santa grumped.

"Besides, the reindeer are complaining. Blitzen says he's blitzed. Dasher says he's dashed if he'll stand for this satelliting. Donder has his dander up."

"Oh, shush," shushed Mrs. Santa. "I'll bet the people who make those satellites would be right nice folks if you really knew them."

Santa groaned.

Peace, Good Will
"All they do is snarl at each other," he said. "All their satellites do is beep at each other. Although," Santa went on thoughtfully, "there is that new one, the one that dented the fender of my sled."

"There may be something to be said for a race that still talks at this time of year about peace and good will."

"Hand me my boots, old girl, I'll give 'em one more chance."

Kill Contract of Man in Middle Of Vote Dispute

Little Rock, Ark. —AP— John F. Wells, the man in the middle in the Alford-Hays election controversy, was notified Friday of the cancellation of a $10,200 state printing contract Wells charged the action was politically inspired.

The contract was for the daily legislative digest, a day-by-day report of actions of the general assembly which Wells has published under state contract since 1940.

Notice of cancellation of the contract was given by the house efficiency committee, which termed the action an economy move. The senate earlier had notified Wells that it desired the services of the digest as before.

Wells charged that the house committee's decision stemmed from objections of some representatives to the Arkansas Recorder, a weekly newspaper published by Wells.

California Fire Under Control

San Juan Capistrano, Calif. —AP— Fire-fighters today held control over California's worst brush blaze of the year. They succeeded after six days of battling.

The fire burned 66,300 acres of brush and timber in three southern California counties, destroyed 17 homes and cabins and killed a ranger.

Beginning today, officials said, the force of 2,700 fire-fighters will be reduced gradually. The fire is still burning in some areas, but is no longer advancing.

Central Committee Endorses Policies Of Soviet Premier

Moscow —AP— The Soviet communist party's ruling central committee has ended a 3-day meeting with solid endorsement of Premier Khrushchev's leadership.

A decree issued by the committee Friday approved Khrushchev's call for Russian farmers to outproduce America and his blasts at fallen Soviet leaders.

Khrushchev opened the meeting Monday with the claim that Soviet farms already had surpassed the United States in some types of production.

Revolution in Communication Now Possible

Washington —AP— The new space communications system tested with President Eisenhower's Christmas message is designed ultimately to provide a new aid to the military services in worldwide communications.

David Young, space technology coordinator for the Pentagon's advanced research projects agency, gave this account today in telling of plans to break current bottlenecks in long-distance communications.

Directed Launching
ARPA directed the launching of the Atlas. Young told a reporter that satellites would be used as space relay stations to transmit messages on high radio frequencies which can not be used in ordinary transoceanic long range radio transmission.

He indicated the system would also add vastly to the message capacity now offered on crowded oceanic cables.

The defense scientist gave this picture of Atlas' communications gear:

The radio system consists of two devices each a little larger than an ordinary portable radio.

Tape Recorder
Each device can receive voice or telegraphic type radio, store it on a tape recorder, then transmit it to a ground receiving station upon proper command.

The two radio devices are carried in fin-like tunnels on the sides of the fuel tanks of Atlas' rocket carcass. Two were installed in case one should fail. Each was tuned to a slightly different wavelength in the high frequency band.

Atlas will pick up only messages which are in a proper code, thus cutting out unwanted signals. Likewise special ground receivers are set to catch only such messages as are addressed to them in their particular codes.

TV Strike Averted; New Contract Signed

New York —AP— Major radio-television networks and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists have agreed on a new contract, ending a dispute which produced threat of a strike.

Donald F. Conaway, national executive of AFTRA, announced the agreement Friday. Terming the new pact "highly satisfactory," Conaway said the membership is expected to ratify it at meeting next month.

Raps NATO Stand On Berlin Issue

Pravda Says Organization Has No
Right to Discuss the Situation

Moscow —AP— Pravda complained bitterly today that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has no business concerning itself with Berlin.

The NATO council of foreign ministers issued a communiqué in Paris Tuesday stating that all the NATO nations are behind the United States, Britain and France in defiance of the Soviet Union over Berlin.

The western big three have rejected Soviet demands that they withdraw their troops from occupation of West Berlin by next June 1. In making the demand on Nov. 27 Premier Khrushchev also said the Russians will give the East German communist regime control over the 110-mile allied supply lines that connect West Berlin with West Germany if the Allies remain.

An Ultimatum
Pravda claimed the minister's council was not the proper place to discuss Berlin. The communist party newspaper said no one expected "a memorandum of peace to emerge from the depth of this aggressive organization, but the very fact that the Berlin problem was included in the agenda is testimony to the NATO attempt to increase tension in Europe."

The article said Secretary of State Dulles attempted to answer the Soviet proposals with an ultimatum and made the statement that NATO's military experts "are sure the Soviet Union will not risk war over the Berlin question."

This, said Pravda, indicates that Dulles only now understands "that the Soviet Union does not want war."

Strike Points Up Importance of Daily Newspaper

The current newspaper strike in New York City has brought home to the citizens of that metropolis how important a part newspapers play in their daily lives.

Your newspaper often is taken for granted, yet it takes hundreds of people working in many fields to bring it to your doorstep each day. In the case of the Post-Crescent, for 7 cents a day you get a well-rounded report of world, national, state and local news; scores of pictures; columns of comics and features of all kinds to say nothing of advertising telling you what, where and how to buy.

Incidentally, even when the New York papers are publishing a resident of that city would have to buy three of four of them to get all the features you get each day in your Post-Crescent. Which is one of the reasons your Fox Cities newspaper is growing so rapidly—over 12,000 new reading facilities in the last 11 years!

Baslogne Hero Cites Desire as Key Factor

Recalls Cloudy Day in 1944 When He Made Decision to Stand Against Nazis

Baton Rouge, La. — (AP) — Lt. Gen. Troy Middleton, who 14 years ago made the vital decision to hold Bastogne against the Germans in the Battle of the Bulge, said today desire is the most important factor for success in war or peace.

Third Infantry division had never been in combat, and we had only about half of an armored division in support. "The best we could do was try to build islands of resistance, knowing they would be surrounded," Middleton said. "Bastogne was like the hub of a wheel with roads leading in all directions. I felt we should hold it at any cost. Gen. (George) Patton first criticized me for holding it. Later, he said it was a stroke of genius."

The LSU president was in the middle of a segregation row last summer when 66 faculty members signed a petition opposing legislation to close public schools ordered to integrate.

"I'm a southern boy," he explained, "a segregationist. But I took an oath back in 1910 to uphold the president and the constitution. I'm not about to break it now. I may disagree with the court but it's not for me to disobey them."

Trees will be sprayed for a nominal fee with X-12 flame retardant which assures the user his tree will not go up in a flash of flame during the holidays.

The chemical is mixed with one gallon of water and applied liberally with a sprayer. Trees sprayed will singe under flame, but will not catch fire.

Claussen said the solution is being used in Green Bay under city ordinance for Christmas trees and draperies in public buildings.

Film Pioneer DeMille, Most TV Shows On Yule Theme

Producer of Epics Plans to Make
Next Movie on Boy Scout Movement

BY BOB THOMAS
New Orleans—A living legend at 77, Cecil B. DeMille can still set a pace that makes younger men tire. I watched him at close range in New Orleans, where he is helping to exploit "The Buccaneer," a movie he supervised but did not direct. His day included radio interviews before breakfast, a luncheon speech, a parade, previews before breakfast, a luncheon speech, a parade, premiere and reception afterward. He goes on to Atlanta for more of the same, then a strenuous week in New York.

With it all, his mind remained razor-sharp, as I found out while riding with him through crowds to the theater. "Keep those wonderful pictures coming," shouted an admirer, and DeMille beamed. He talked of his plans for the future. No. 1 project is "On My Honor," the story of "Lord Baden-Powell and the Boy Scouts. This seemed to some an unlikely subject for DeMille, whose name connotes the spectacular epic. "It isn't just a story of 50,000 boys tying knots or rubbing sticks together to create fire," the film pioneer said. "This is a story of tremendous scope. I will film it all over the world."

Project X a Surprise
He expects to film the picture in 1960. Then he plans to spend four years in preparing what he calls project X. He resisted any hints that it would be another Biblical epic. These plans could take him to the age of 85, and then they'll have to come and wheel me away." He shows no signs of flagging yet. He still approaches film making—and film selling—with burning enthusiasm. Therein lies a good chunk of his success.

DeMille films seldom draw the plaudits of the highbrow critics, but they are researched and filmed with tender care. And they are sold with relentless drive.

Picture Business
"There are three parts to the picture business—production, distribution and exhibition," he reasoned, "and all are of equal importance. "When I went into the mak-

New York—Just about everything on the television networks in the coming week—with a few exceptions—will be concerned with Christmas.

Sunday—(NBC-TV)—"Om-nibus" stars Gene Kelly in his television debut with "Dancing—A Man's Game." In demonstrating that dancing is a sport requiring coordination and gracefulness Kelly will present such athletes as Mickey Mantle, Vic Seixas, Bob Cousy, John Unitas and others.

CBS-TV, a half-hour program of Christmas music by the Salt Lake City Tabernacle choir.

Tabernacle Choir
NBC-TV, "Shirley Temple's Storybook" offers "Mother Goose," with Miss Temple, her three children, Elsa Lancaster, Billy Gilbert and Carleton Carpenter.

Monday—(NBC-TV)—"The Goodyear Theater" offers "Curtain Call," starring Jackie Cooper in a half-hour drama about a child star trying to make a go as an adult actor against the enmity of a critic.

Tuesday—(ABC-TV)—"Naked City" strikes an ironic note on the holiday with "And a Merry Christmas to the Force on Patrol."

Wednesday—(CBS-TV)—"Pursuit" presents "The Silent Night," a 1-hour filmed drama starring Lew Ayres, Patricia Neal, Victor Jory. CBS-TV, "Circle Theater" abandons its usual format to offer, live from New York, dramatic readings and narrations by Victor Jory and special Christmas music.

Both CBS-TV and NBC-TV will present a variety of religious services and music in the late hours of Christmas eve and early hours of Christmas morning.

Cecil B. DeMille at 77 still keeps as busy as he was in his younger days. The famous movie pioneer now is on the road exploiting "The Buccaneer," a film he supervised but did not direct.

Form Sizes Move Senator Into Action

Robert Knowles
Seeks Hiring of Expert Consultant

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Have you ever been annoyed by the size and the nature of the governmental forms which descend upon the public in an ever-increasing flow?

You have a kindred spirit in Sen. Robert P. Knowles, New Richmond, chairman of a legislative committee examining state government operations and how they can be improved.
"Reform the forms," might be the slogan for the legislator, who is trying to persuade his colleagues of the legislative council of the need for the appointment of a forms management specialist who would be a consultant to all state agency heads in such matters. Efficient management of forms has become a professional occupation in large business establishments, he said.

Ask Too Much
Knowles asked: "Have you ever tried to fit an income tax form into your typewriter?"
He announced his own view also that some of the departments in their form styles are for saving money by revising forms, and possibly abolishing some. The state's printing bills, aside from the cost of editing and filing, now run to about $1,250,000 yearly.

He doubted that some of the forms would be as long and complex if anybody got around to reviewing the need for the questions asked. Among those he mentioned skeptically are those required by the motor vehicle department in the case of motor vehicle accidents.

'What's Ahead for the Farmer?'

Those favoring the continuation of the present farm price support program and those opposed to it are lining up now on opposite sides of the fence and making plans for their part in the fight that is sure to come before Congress shortly. Secretary of Agriculture Benson is expected to propose lower price supports for such surplus crops as wheat, peanuts and tobacco.

However, his recommendations will depend somewhat upon the advice he receives from the bipartisan commission which advises the secretary of agriculture. Secretary Benson has worked closely with this commission in the past and it is to an important degree the work of this commission which is called the Benson program by both the supporters and the opponents of the secretary of agriculture. This commission is headed by Dean William I. Meyers of Cornell university's College of Agriculture. He acts as chairman. Other members are farmers, nine of which are Republicans and nine Democrats. They have been selected from various agricultural centers across the nation and have an important part in forming the agricultural secretary's recommendations to the president.

There is much speculation at present over whether the secretary may urge lower price supports for milk and dairy products, but there has been no indication as yet as to what the official position may be. However, the leaders of the dairy industry in Wisconsin are going about the task of setting up their own programs to reduce dairy surpluses.

Dean R. K. Froker of the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture is now busily organizing the university's dairy specialists and the agricultural extension agents in preparation for a campaign which it is hoped will increase the profits of the Wisconsin dairymen by weeding out the dairy cows which now cost more in feed and care than their output is worth.

To do this Dean Froker proposes to greatly expand the dairy production testing program. If the farmers knew exactly how much each dairy cow is producing, it would be a very simple matter to boost the average production to 10,000 pounds of milk and probably 375 pounds of fat per cow. This would be a much more profitable average for the dairy farmer than the 7,640 pounds of milk and probably 279 pounds of butterfat which is the average today.

While this program sounds like one that might bring about a tremendous increase in the production of milk, such is not its goal. In fact it is believed that between 500,000 and 600,000 below-average milk cows could be eliminated with direct profit to the farmer. Such low production cattle are not only unprofitable to the farmer who wastes his time, good feed and labor on them, but they also contribute to the surplus milk which tends to lower his income. However, before such cattle can be located, a tremendous expansion in the Wisconsin testing program must take place. It is said that now only about 11 per cent of the Wisconsin dairy cattle are actually under test. That being the case, of course, the figure of 500,000 average dairy cows among the nearly 2,500,000 now on Wisconsin farms is mere guesswork. The number might be more or less. However, there are few things more important for the Wisconsin dairy farmer to do than to find out just which are these boarder cows. In urging this program upon the dairy farmers of Wisconsin, Dean Froker said:

The value of individual production records for improving efficiency and maintaining a more secure dairy income can hardly be overemphasized. Cows on test in the state average 100 pounds more butterfat a year and this means 75 to 85 dollars more in income from each cow. Such records are essential to progressive dairy farmers.

That pretty well tells the story and while it will not have the same appeal to some dairy farmers that a promise of federal cash would, it is something they can do themselves for their own benefit and no politician or bureaucrat can do them out of it.

Russian Soldiers for Slave Labor

Red Star, the Russian army newspaper, has commented indignantly on the betrayal of communistic ideals by an officer who employed the men under his command to work for various organizations. The officer is accused of having his soldiers build bridges, repair roads and cut timber, and pocketing the proceeds — about 200,000 rubles.

The publication says the officer gave "regal treatment" to communist officials who visited his area and thus kept them from seeing his activities and exposing them.

As punishment for "loss of communist party principles" the officer has been dismissed from his command and from the party.

Red Star omitted the most important details. What organizations in the Soviet Union have need for the slave labor which has been a monopoly of the Kremlin? Who has the money to pay for it — who beside the party hierarchy? The recipient of the bribes was named; why not the givers? Whom did the officer bribe in turn to assure secrecy?

Not long ago visiting foreign dignitaries were given regal treatment by Russian officials intent on hiding the existence of slave camps. The disgraced officer apparently used the same tactics with his civilian and military superiors, but he used Russian soldiers — not German and Japanese prisoners of war — for slave labor.

Vices and Virtues in the News

Almost since the first one was published, newspapers have been criticized from time to time by various high-minded individuals and groups for publishing stories of crime and violence.

Almost from that same time, editors have wrestled with the problem. On the one hand, they have seen in every subscription a contract pledging them to keep the reader informed, on the other, they have been confronted with ethical questions of good taste and decency. Unless human nature changes a lot the problem won't be solved to every reader's satisfaction as long as newspapers are published and radio and television exist.

Some clergymen in New York found fault the other day with prominence given by newspapers to crime stories.

Rabbi Joseph H. Lookstein, who spoke at a conference of newspapermen, cited stories in the Bible which deal with crime and violence, and said that newspapers must report news, good and bad.

How right he was — from the first murder, when Abel died at Cain's hand; to David's adultery and subsequent murder of Uriah; to Haman's plot against the Jews, down to today with its reflection of all old vices — and many of the old virtues, too!

What Others are Saying

U. S. Exhibits Lag In Foreign Languages

From The Cincinnati Enquirer

In the recently published best-selling (and hard-hitting) book "The ugly American," the authors make an emphatic point of the fact that America's ambassadors and lesser foreign service personnel rarely speak the languages of the countries where they are on duty — especially in Asia. And they compare this unfavorably with the standard practice of the Soviet Union, which requires all its overseas personnel to learn the appropriate languages — even rare and difficult ones.

This is one of the major handicaps from which the United States suffers in its effort to combat communist propaganda and infiltration in many parts of the world. It is not merely a matter of the policy prevailing in the foreign services of the two great powers. It also reflects their educational policies. Foreign languages are a very important segment of the Soviet school curriculum. They are a quite unimportant part of the American curriculum.

Thomas P. Whitney, surveying this problem for the Associated Press, pointed out that all pupils in Russian schools are required to study a foreign language from the fifth to the tenth grade. American school systems typically require two years, and only of those who plan to go to college.

In the Soviet Union, consequently there are 12 million students enrolled in foreign language classes, while in America there are only 1.4 million, by the latest figures available. Russian students take German, English, or French in that order of popularity, and very few take anything else. The American curriculum emphasizes Spanish, which is not surprising, but includes French and Latin, with a little German but not much.

The important difference lies in the numbers who study some foreign language, the number of years devoted to it, and the age at which most students begin. In each comparison, the American practice shows up to a disadvantage.

There are some corrective forces at work, to be sure. Under the prodding of the federal government, there is some increase in emphasis on foreign language courses, some effort to improve the quality of teaching, and perhaps a slight tendency to offer foreign languages to lower age groups. But we have a good long way to go, to give our oncoming citizens even the minimal foreign language equipment for the times in which they will be living.

New York Voter Faced Dilemma

From The Greenwood, S.C. Daily Journal

A visitor from New York feels that Nelson Rockefeller is not interested in the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. He thinks that Rockefeller would rather do a good job as governor and shoot for 1964, when the climate may be a little better for a GOP candidate.

By that time he will have had time to establish his political philosophy, which is probably far to the left of what much of the public has in mind.

The Wall Street Journal reported that a New York businessman went to the polls on Nov. 4 with these results: I saw that three socialists were running for governor, so I voted for the one who was on the socialist ticket.

Schools and Mental Aid Rated at Top

BY ELMO ROPER AND ASSOCIATES

Nearly two-thirds of the public want to see more money spent on some form of public service — and are willing to pay higher taxes to make it possible. Presented with a list of items, a nationwide cross section recently gave these answers:

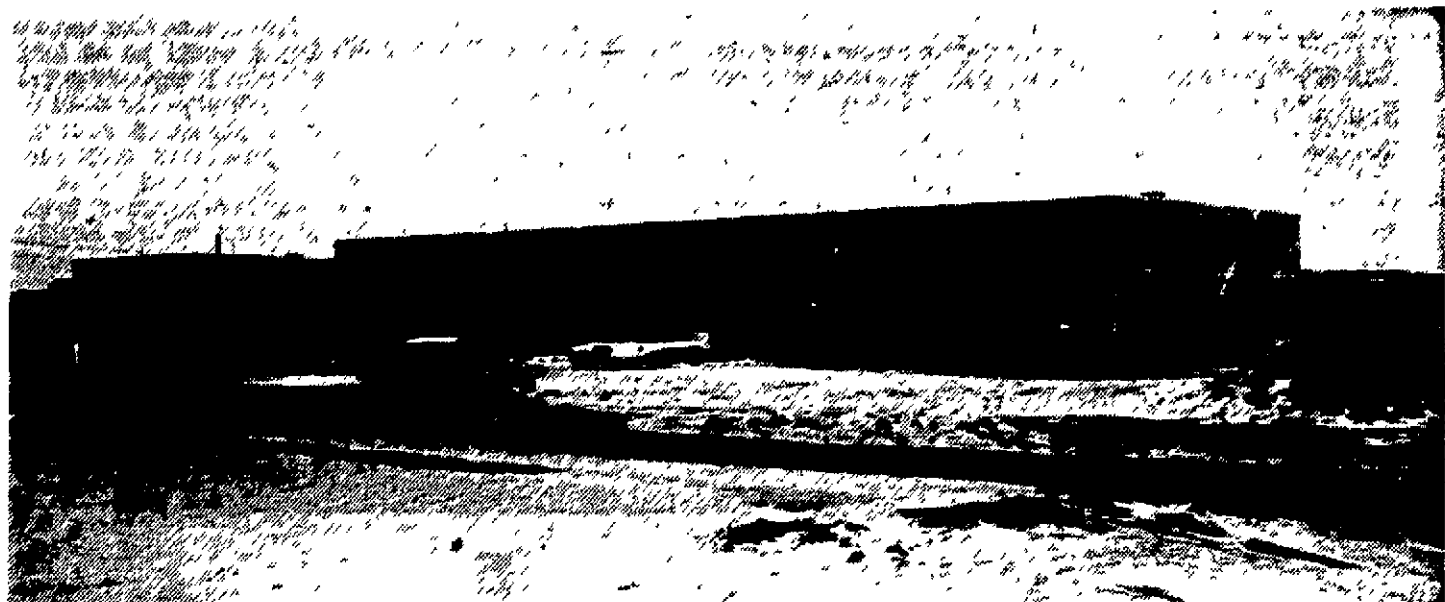

Here is a list of things that are paid for by tax money. Would you be willing to see taxes raised so that more money could be spent on any of the things on this list? Which things?

	Pct.
Public schools .....	26
Mental institutions .....	32
Social Security benefits .....	24
Unemployment compensation .....	17
Police and law enforcement .....	14
Streets and highways .....	13
Prisons and reformatories .....	9
Public sanitation and garbage disposal .....	7
Parks and recreation facilities .....	6
Postal service .....	3
All (volunteered) .....	4
None (volunteered) .....	33
Express no opinion .....	4

That public schools come out first on the list of items the public wants to see more money spent on is perhaps not very surprising. The number two item is more surprising. The frequent mention of mental institutions is dramatic testimony to the effectiveness of recent public education campaigns on the need for adequate care and treatment of the mentally ill.

Third and Fourth

Social Security and unemployment compensation are third and fourth on the list. While unemployment compensation was mentioned by fewer people than Social Security, this does not necessarily mean it is of less importance. It should be remembered that the vast majority of working people are eventually eligible for Social Security benefits, but the number of people eligible for unemployment compensation is a

Huntley School, Being Constructed for Appleton's northeast residential area, is the seventh new public school to be constructed in the city since 1951. It is representative of the types of services for which people are willing to pay, according to a Roper poll. Three more school buildings for the city are in the planning stage and probably will be underway or completed within five years.

tion at any one time is a small minority even during a recession period.

Unlike most of the other items, these two call forth some political differences, with Democrats more anxious to see them expanded than Republicans. But the differences are not great. Twenty-seven per cent of the Democrats are joined by 21 per cent of the Republicans who want more money spent on Social Security benefits; and more generous unemployment compensation is desired by 20 per cent of the Democrats and 15 per cent of the Republicans.

Ask Status Quo

When the question of spending for public services was asked in a more general way, these political differences disappeared. The answers of the entire sample tended to become more conservative, with the strongest sentiment being expressed for preserving the spending status quo. But among those people who want a change, more people want to expand government spending for social services than want to cut it down. This is as true of Republicans (whose leader, President Eisenhower, has recently expressed a strong opposition to Congressional "spenders") as it is of Democrats:

The things on this list (above) are generally called public services. The things you buy in stores, on the other hand, are usually called consumer goods. Some people say that too much money is spent in this country on consumer goods and too little on public services

	Total Sample	Democrats	Republicans	Independents
Too much is spent on public services	17	17	17	17
Too little is spent on public services	27	27	27	26
Right amount now being spent	36	34	38	32
Express no opinion	20	22	18	20

Answers varied somewhat depending on how rich or poor the answerer. But while poorer people generally see more merit in increased spending for public services than the more prosperous, 24 per cent of the well-to-do are convinced that the public side of our economy is getting less than its proper share, while only 20 per cent think the reverse.

Public's Conflict

The answers to these two questions illustrate the conflict in the public's mind between an age-old tradition of governmental economy and an awareness of the need for adequate and varied public services in today's complex society. Asked in a general way about this country's spending balance between consumer goods and public services, most people are reluctant to see that balance disturbed in order to expand the public portion of our economy. But when asked about the specifics of public services, most people can find something — and usually more than one thing — which warrants increased government spending.

Whatever reservations about high government spending may still exist in this country, today's figures show that a large segment of the public is willing to pay higher taxes to improve the nation's mental and educational health and to provide a larger measure of economic security to its citizens. ## But Wisconsin Officials Aren't Sure of Polls

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The budget to watch in the new legislature, where the issues of taxation and finance will dwarf all others is the state school aid budget, which is proposed to be boosted about 50 per cent from the present levels.

The legislature can conceivably trim back some of the demands from the University of Wisconsin, or the state colleges, or the state department of aeronautics or any of the myriads of others now on file that present Gov.-elect Gaylord Nelson with a nightmarish total of more than $80,000,000 above the revenues in prospect under present state tax laws.

But the school aid fund is altogether different. There isn't a politician now on the scene in Wisconsin who will publicly declare that he is willing to cut state subsidies to the local schools. Political parties have become dizzy in the competition to promise more state support for local schools. It is one of the real sacred cows of state politics.

THE MEANING

Yet the demand for additional school aid money merely to maintain the present level of support is now so great as to make it appear impossible to grant it without fundamental revisions in state tax policy.

The situation is a painful one for Gov. Nelson. There was no one theme that was hammered so heavily during his successful campaign than the exorbitant burdens of the local property tax and the imperative need for state action to relieve it.

The school aid budget is the avenue for local property tax relief, great gobs of it in many districts. The school tax is the base of the local tax problem and especially in the smaller towns and rural sections.

But Nelson also is committed on tax policy. He stands for income taxation. He stands effectually committed against the sales tax as an alternative and balancing source of money — although it seemed during his campaign that he came to that position with some reluctance — almost as if he could see the crisis looming after his election.

How can Nelson assure the increases in school aids to the tune of $40,000,000, consider fairly all of the other demands for more money, and continue existing services, without a suicidal boost in the income tax rates?

It will be one of the great challenges of his life. Perhaps no other governor has ever faced a state financial dilemma in such raw terms.

HOW IT GOES

One of the reasons why there is relatively little public discussion of the details of the school aid program is that comparatively few persons — in the legislature and elsewhere — really comprehend the elaborately complex formula that is involved.

There are two kinds of aids. Flat aids, moderate in size, are paid out without discrimination. But the heart of the matter is the equalization aid, distributed to the poor and derived from the rich, so to speak. The larger cities of the state are only distantly involved in the argument. The aids are vital to the rural communities, with slim local tax resources but with representative and costly school enrollments. For them there is no more important decision that will come in the state capitol this winter.

Two northeastern Wisconsin localities within reasonable range of each other will illustrate. Kimberly in Outagamie county last year had an equalized school mill rate of taxation of 8.5, and got state support of 1 mill in tax equivalent.

But Oconto Falls, in Oconto county, had an equalized school mill rate of 16.3, and got state support of 11.1 mills in tax equivalent. These are moderate examples. There are cases more extreme in both directions. Kimberly isn't much concerned about the issue. But in Oconto Falls, or Phillips, or Black River Falls, or Frederic and hundreds of other towns, it is virtually a matter of life or death in the local school system.

Nothing Wrong in Protecting Dogs From Harsh Treatment

Editor, Post-Crescent:

This is a letter of protest regarding the so-called ridiculous canine problem. Is the welfare of our pets and animal friends so unimportant that we should ignore it? No! We most certainly should not. Our humane society has been doing a wonderful job in the past, but can they continue without the help and support of the citizens' committee and the animal lovers and owners of Appleton?

I am indeed insulted as being referred to as a sob sister who prefers animals to human beings. I am humbly proud that my Maker created me far above the animals and giving me dominion over them, but does that give me the right to abuse — or let cruelty exist? I am aware also that in my making God has given me a mind to think and reason, a body strong to work and thrive, a soul to give me faith and guidance, but most of all a voice to speak my mind and fight for my rights. If God so thought enough to create our animals do you not think it matters to Him what becomes of them?

They can feel pain, hunger and cold the same as we do, but can they speak or fight back? It is our Christian duty to defend and protect the rights of our animals and if we ignore this we are not worthy of being called a human being. If we can not treat a defenseless animal with a little kindness how can we treat our fellow humans the same way.

I do not place a animal over a human being, but we are not parasites to live and depend solely on someone else to support our needs. Is not our fight for animal rights just as much a civic duty as any other activity of our city councils and committees?

We are a thriving community with schools, churches, hospitals and many other organizations to help those in need and in trouble, then cannot we back and support our animal welfare committees? Our animals are not some useless creatures to be ignored as ridiculous controversy. How many dogs as well as horses and mules served a very important and useful service during the war? How many seeing eye dogs give devoted service to their blind masters? I could go on, but I don't think it is necessary. I just want to say that in my mind as in others it is not wrong or foolish to fight for our animals to protect them from inhuman treatment.

"Being kind to animals is surely an act of mercy, for it is done without reward." Miss Levita Leitch, 1740 N. Owatonna St. Appleton

Pay Boost Ends Crisis

From The Montgomery, Ala. Journal

The city of New York has decided the only way public librarians are going to stay on the job is to raise their starting minimum pay from $4,000 to $5,000.

At the rate of one a day leaving for better paying positions the city would soon find itself with stacks of useless books.

It unlucky to introduce holly into a house before Christmas eve. Others believe that if the leaves of holly brought into a house at Christmas are smothered with a candle flame, the Society of America was formed.

The national arboretum in Washington has a special pro-

Medieval herbalists — the precursors of present day physicians — used holly as a remedy, for everything from colic and gout to broken bones. Pennsylvania Indians wove holly twigs into their shields in the belief that they would make them invincible in battle.

Holly's very attractiveness to man almost led to its undoing. Plant poachers striped forests of holly, and it has been wiped out in many areas of the United States. However, holly culture has proved increasingly popular among farmers and gardeners. In 1947 the glossy shrub received a rare recognition: the Holly was named "best value."

Growing holly is not without problems. A tree is either male or female. The male tree bears no berries and the female has none unless pollinated. A tree takes about 12 years to reach full maturity. Farmers may set out holly cuttings after a child is born and anticipate a profitable crop to meet college bills.

Mexico Blast Kills Five

American Woman Among Victims of Bistro Explosion

Mexico City — A mysterious explosion ripped through a crowded deluxe bar and restaurant Friday night, killing five persons including an American woman.

Police tentatively identified the American victim as Betty Arnold of Houston, Texas.

Among the 13 critically injured was Richard Herrin of Houston, believed to have been Miss Arnold's escort. A card among his effects bore the name of Betty Arnold.

The other four dead were employees of La Ronda, a popular tourist attraction in the hotel and night club district of the capital, said Police Gen. City.

Cites Erroneous Impression of Way House Deals With the Seating of New Members

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Some headlines and news dispatches in the last 48 hours have given an erroneous impression of the way the house of representatives deals with the seating of newly elected members. The report was widely published that a house committee had recommended that a recently elected member not be given his seat.

Actually, the house committee which made the recommendation has no jurisdiction over the case. Unlike the senate, the house of representatives is not now, and never has been, what is known as a continuing body. The candidates elected last month for the congress that meets in January are not passed upon by and do not have to submit their qualifications to any committee of the present house.

Every house of representatives at the end of two years ceases to exist and does not have any authority over the succeeding house. All bills pending in the house now and all committees thereof lose their official or legal status at the end of the 2-year period, which happens in this instance to be on Jan. 6, with the new congress convening the next day.

The house committee which the other day took up the subject of the Arkansas election in which Representative Brooks Hays, Democrat, was defeated by an independent, Dr. Dale Alford, has no jurisdiction at all over admission of the members of the next congress. The house appointed this committee to watch the congressional campaign while it was in progress, so that any evidence of irregularities could be collected. But the committee collected none with reference to the Arkansas election, though it now has permitted a witness to file charges.

No Legal Value
Any current committee of the house of representatives—or any member, for that matter—can recommend or suggest or even demand that some member not be seated in the future. But this has about as much legal value as if it had been recommended in a newspaper editorial or in a radio broadcast by any private individual. It is, after all, merely a bit of controversial debate designed to influence public opinion.

When the house of representatives meets in January, it will be confronted by an Arkansas man with a formal certificate issued by state of Arkansas declaring that he has been duly elected to congress. If the house of representatives wishes the new member to stand aside while an investigation is made by the house elections committee, it may do so. But such a step would be virtually unprecedented. It would mean that, solely on an unsubstantiated charge in the newspapers and without a single claim by the person or party most interested—the defeated candidate—a formal step would be taken to deprive an elected member of his vote on current legislation.

This means that the people of his district would be denied representation in congress indefinitely.

Such a development could be a boomerang against those Republicans and Democrats who voted for a resolution asking the member to stand aside. If a real case of fraud were revealed, of course, the matter would be different.

In this case, there has been some talk about the use of write-in ballots and whether they are permissible, but if the procedure itself has been invalid, it will require a state court decision to clarify the situation. About all the house finally could do would be to declare the seat vacant so that a new election might be held. A member of congress is presumed to have been legally elected until it is conclusively established otherwise.

With all these legal aspects involved, it was incorrect to give the impression to the American people that a committee of the present house has any right to pass upon the admission or rejection of a member elected to the congress which convenes next month.

It will be a sorry day for America if there is a return to the events of reconstruction days, when radicals in the north—after the war between the states was over—voted to unseat southern members of both houses of congress and violated the constitution by depriving certain states of their representation in congress without their consent. ## Many Wishes for a Merrier Christmas

Appleton Girl Scouts and Brownie scouts have given added Christmas cheer to many Appleton residents during this immediate pre-Christmas Day season. They have devoted their spare moments to singing carols in hospitals and homes, giving holiday programs, making Yule tray favors, delivering Christmas trees, making ornaments for the trees and boxing cookies and other Christmas goodies. But, best of all, the mere presence of the young people has brought, no doubt, the real Christmas spirit to many people.

Your Problems

Married Woman Recalls Bliss Of Single Girl's Freedom

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'd like to tell "The Rock" to stop feeling sorry for herself. The biggest rock of all must be in her head.

She envies her sisters because they are "blissfully married." She moans because she has no man of her own. Well, she's welcome to mine.

I'm not bitter—just experienced. Most marriages are far from the dream situations that the manless career women imagine them to be. I started out young and bright eyed. My husband had nothing. I was patient and uncomplaining. My marriage has brought me very little happiness. It's been one crisis after another.

My husband was busy with other women till he "reformed."

In reality he got tired and worn out. Now he spends his time at lodge meetings, poker games or asleep in front of the TV.

The Rock has it good. She's free to come and go as she pleases. She earns her own money and spends it as she sees fit. Perhaps she's missed some of the joys of marriage, but she's missed plenty of the grief, too. No one can have it both ways.

The career woman who is miserable because she's "alone" might do well to look around at some of her married friends. Plenty of them are alone, too.—Wife of a Flop

DEAR ANN: My 16-year-old daughter is driving me out of my mind. Louise is vile-tempered, sassy and lazy. When she was two her father left us and I had to go to work. She lived with a succession of aunts and housekeepers. I had an unsuccessful marriage when she was five. Her stepfather was alcoholic and for four years our home was like a prison.

Last year I married a wonderful man but Louise refuses to accept him because her stepfather was so mean it left terrible scars on her mind. It has come to the point where we hardly speak a civil word to each other. Last night I asked her to sew a rip in her blouse and she said "Let the sleeve fall off. I don't care." I got so mad I almost slapped her.

My husband's sister is childless. She has begged me to let Louise live with them. Louise wants to go. She visited there last summer and got along

Marlene Miller
Tell Troth of
Marlene Miller,
J. J. Schilleman

The engagement of Miss Marlene Miller to James J. Schilleman has been revealed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, route 1, Appleton.

Miss Miller is a graduate of Hortonville High school and is employed at the Aid Association for Lutherans.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Schilleman, Hortonville, is a graduate of Washington High school, New London. He recently returned after serving four years in the navy in the Far East and Alaska.

No wedding date has been set.

fine. They live 200 miles from here and there's a good high school in that city. Shall I say yes?—Vivian

By all means let her go. You two need to be relieved of one another's company for a while. The pillar-post treatment got Louise off to a poor start. Her temper, sassiness and laziness are manifestations of insecurity. And a 16-year-old girl who'd rather let her sleeve fall off than sew it, shows an enormous lack of responsibility. You slipped a stitch somewhere in her training.

I suggest you get outside help in the girl's absence and learn what makes children hostile. With some insight you should be able to improve the relationship. It's pretty late in the game to establish lines of communication but it may not be hopeless.

DEAR ANN: I'm writing this from work. It may not seem like much of a problem to you, but it's driving me nuts.

The office furniture was recently re-arranged. An elderly gentleman had his desk turned around so that we sit face to face, all day long. He smokes cigars, cigarettes and pipes incessantly. The only time I get relief is when he goes to lunch. The constant smoke screen is making me sick. Can this be handled in a tactful way? Help, please!

Choking to Death
Apparently the smoke-stack is addicted and asking him to cut down or out would be useless. Go directly to the person whose bright idea it was to change the furniture and request the old arrangement.

Query Was Rude in This Case

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: If a friend asks, "Do you pay as much as a hundred dollars for this apartment?" doesn't that rather necessitate my telling her what we do actually pay? Isn't "Yes we do" rather abrupt and rude?

Answer: In the first place, the rudeness is in the asking of such a question. But as it was asked, you might answer, "Yes, unfortunately we do, but we couldn't find anything else." This wouldn't be abrupt, nor would it be considered rude if someone withholds personal information.

Clarification

Dear Mrs. Post: From time to time this problem has come up and I would appreciate a clarification. I have been taught that a gentleman never refers to himself as Mr. Smith, but as John Smith. The Mr. is a title bestowed on him by friends and associates, never by himself. It is also my understanding that the reverse is true in the case of a lady; that she may correctly refer to herself as Miss Smith, or Mrs. Smith. Would you bear the lobsters have been finished enough to tell me whether

Wash Galoshes Before Wearing Them in Snow

Snow and its inevitable by-product, slush, may spell joy to the youngsters, but it can be something less than fun for those forced to trudge through it as they pursue their daily chores.

The white stuff almost always produces one of life's little problems when you start a bottom-of-the-closet expedition in search of rubbers and other bad-weather foot gear. If you're lucky enough to find them, they're probably all dusty and dirty inside. And, of course, the shoes they're meant for are undoubtedly freshly shined.

Here's a handy tip to help solve the problem. Give rubbers, rubber galoshes, and even the plastic variety, a good washing in liquid soap and cold water. The liquid soap dissolves instantly and rinses off with ease, leaving no soap particles. It's designed to cleanse thoroughly and quickly in cold water, and that means a minimum of effort. Cold water, naturally, does not harm rubber. Dry them on a bath mat or towel, away from radiators or bright sunlight. To make sure they dry thoroughly on the inside, place them in a position that permits proper drainage.

Family Diary

I've always been in love with Christmas — its sights and smells and sounds; the year, now it's our turn. Everything is ready — presents for all, cookies and candy gal-such a wonderful holiday with you and the children last year, now it's our turn. Everything is ready — presents for all, cookies and candy gal-know when we were going to get our Christmas tree. "Yes," Libby echoed. "And when are we going to make gingerbread men the way we always do, and all those different kinds of candy and cookies we ice and sprinkle things on?"

"We've been through all that," John said. "Gramma's having Christmas for us this year, remember?"

The children, thinking hard, didn't hear a word. "And what about the candles we put on the mantel? And the creche we put beneath the tree, with Baby Jesus and all the animals. We always do that. And a big wreath on the front door. It doesn't seem like Christmas without a wreath," Sally, who hadn't said a word, began to howl.

John looked at me and cleared his throat. "Well," he said, "if your mother is willing, I suppose we could get just a small tree."

Before the children went to bed that night, the tree—which turned out not to be so small after all — was gleaming with lights and all the sweet and funny decorations we have accumulated over the years. The creche, with Baby Jesus, Mary and Joseph and all the animals, was in place, the biggest, fattest wreath we could find was on the front door and a big batch of gingerbread men — with more promised for tomorrow — lay cooling on the kitchen counter and in our stomachs.

It has all meant a lot more work. And there'll be all the Christmas stuff to box up and put away when we get home. What's more, John says he doesn't see how he can ever pack all six of us and the presents—the children didn't want Santa to come early, so we're taking everything—into our old station wagon. But I know he'll manage.

In fact, nothing is too much trouble for a family that's in love with Christmas. (All Rights Reserved)

Easy Holiday

This year, though, everything was to be different. For as the result of our move last May, we are now within a day's driving distance of my parents' home and plans were made early for us to spend Christmas with them.

"Don't bring a thing except your sweet selves," my mother wrote. "Dad and I had fore and enough food in the freezer to feed an army."

I shed a sentimental tear when I showed the letter to John.

"Fine with me," John said. "It will do you good to be able to take Christmas easy for a change — and your mother is right about the presents. Instead of carting a truckload of presents clear across the state, we'll tell Sally Santa is coming early and give the children their presents before we leave."

Tradition Desired

"They won't like it," I said. "They'll take it right in stride," John said, "when I explain how much work Gramma is saving you this year."

And as John predicted, the children did understand. That is up until one night last week when Tommy demanded to

Cologne Handy Aid To Holiday Beauty

Already the air resounds with the hum of holiday activities. Just ahead are busy days of shopping, gift wrapping, and the long hours of cooking and rejoicing that mean Christmas to everyone.

With all of these extra projects on the holiday schedule, time usually reserved for everyday jobs, such as the normal beauty routine, shrinks. However, there are many shortcuts you can follow to help you look and feel your best at all times.

Below are time-saving hints on the use of fragrance. Some are old but worth repeating; others are new. All give spirits a lift and make hours more enjoyable when the pace is fast.

Cologne Tricks

Quickie Hair Set — When time is short, first pin up hair, then spray generously with cologne rather than using water or waving lotion. It will dry while you dress, and be ready to comb out in a matter of minutes. (As a regular habit, add a few drops of cologne to final rinse water when shampooing.)

Neat Feet — Even in cold weather, feet perspire. To help them stay dry, spray cologne inside shoes before you put them on, or spray it directly onto feet.

Hand Helper — If your hands perspire a lot, spray cologne on palms for a drying effect; it will also help control oily skin.

Refreshing Pick-Up

Shoulder Cooler — As you're dressing in the morning, spray cologne over upper back and shoulders to make hours in the kitchen seem cooler (it saves pretty dresses, too.)

Refresher Course — When you're home, spare a few minutes during the day for a quick dunk in tub or shower. When you step out, spray skin with cologne and pat briskly with a towel. (Or spray perfumed bath oil directly in water.) You'll find that this treatment relieves a fatigued feeling and makes skin tingle and glow.

Strategy Move — For greatest effectiveness, apply cologne where there is extra body warmth—at wrists, temples, bends of elbows and knees. It also keeps its potency when used on cotton balls placed in dresser drawers, pockets or handbags.

Our Children Nature Tracks Make Fascinating Hobby

BY ANGELO PATRI
I have reviewed a book, of all things, a picture book, "Nature Detective," that I think a delightful one for the 6-year-olds and as a starter for the older ones who are not yet acquainted with the fun of tracking animals, birds, nature's tracks of wind and water.

This is a fascinating sport. It needs no costly equipment, just a pair of good eyes and an inquisitive mind, things most children have on hand.

A youngster will be excited to see footprints in the snow of his backyard, to scan them with a keen eye and decide who went that way. Was it Towser? Was it Puscat? He soon learns which is which, and he is delighted with himself for being so smart.

If he can get to the park on a snowy morning a world of discovery lies before him. He learns that one marks the way a squirrel went and to prove he has tracked him well there is a tuft of his gray hair on the bark of the tree. Ever look at a squirrel's hair through a microscope, or even a good magnifying glass? Fascinating this research.

Maybe this child lives in the suburbs, and if he does, he has a wonderful world open to him for exploration in the fields. He will learn to recognize the footprints of a raccoon, a very interesting animal who makes very interesting footprints, like a baby's hands, almost. They have very long nails though, and that is what makes them so easy to know.

Skunks leave neat tracks. They look like hands, too, but they are smaller than the raccoon's and their nails are not so long. Another difference is the size. The raccoon's track is larger than the skunk's and he toes in.

Snow isn't always necessary in tracking a creature. Mush and damp sand are fine. The deer leave their footprints along the edge of the brook and so do birds. The sand by the shore tells great stories to those who can read them. Such interesting stories.

Sunken Ship Still Menace to Navigation
Tangier, Va. —(AP)—Generations after she was sent to the bottom of Chesapeake Bay by the guns of the battleship New Hampshire in 1911, the historic ship San Marcos is still resisting efforts to remove her as a menace to navigation.

The wreckage is still within 20 feet of the surface after the Navy used 11 tons of explosives in the latest efforts. The ship has been the object of other military firepower operations including aerial bombing by Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell.

Students Drive Home

Winter Here; What We've Had Was Fall

Faced with the difficult task of topping a fall that registered record-breaking lows, winter will make its entrance on the scene at 2:40 a.m. Sunday.

Fall took its last fling, with another cold wave spreading over the nation. It will wrap most of the country in a bundle of weekend frigidities.

The cold air rolling down from Canada, however, was modified by Wisconsin's cloud cover as the coldest air moved into the upper portions of lower Michigan.

The mercury hit 31 below at Pellston, Mich., early today, compared with Wisconsin's minimum of 15 below at Grantsburg.

Other Wisconsin sub-zero readings were made in Superior, Park Falls, Eau Claire, Lone Rock, Wausau, Madison and Green Bay.

The overnight low in the Fox Cities was 5 above, according to the Wisconsin Michigan Power company's observation post.

The Fox Cities' high Friday of 30 compared rather favorably with the state's high of 40 at Beloit.

The present cold wave

Christmas Trees In Every Home are almost as important as Santa Claus this season of the year and the Y's Men's club of Appleton are making it possible for you to have your choice of lovely fresh trees. At their lot at 1610 W. Wisconsin avenue are, from left, Robert C. Chapelle, Robert N. Potter, prospective customers, Fred Kafura, Jr., Robert W. Duthie and Keith M. Buxton, Y's Men.

Each year a group of business and professional men turn to Christmas tree selling. They are all members of the Y's Men's club, a service organization for the YMCA. The proceeds are used directly to help the youth of our community through the Y camp, knot hole gang and athletic equipment at the YMCA.

This season the Y's Men have ordered 1,000 trees in various sizes and types—Norway pine, Scotch pine, balsams, double needle balsams and blue spruce. A new service this year is custom-flocking or spraying. When the customer has selected a tree he may have it flocked or sprayed in the color of his choice. The Y's Men urge you to buy your Christmas tree Y'sly. The Y's Men tree sale is done by the Y's Men themselves, including the lot set up, stacking and even electrical wiring for the night-time lighting. The amount of volunteer work in-head and operating cost. The Y's Men urge you to buy your Christmas tree Y'sly and help send a needy kid to camp. Y's Men gratefully accept the donation of knowledge by the Rector Motor company, 212 N. Division street, Appleton, local Oldsmobile distributor.

Area Firm Offers New Slant On Pest Control Service

For over 50 years, pest control and sanitation service has been used and considered indispensable by operators of hotels, hospitals, bakeries, food markets, restaurants, dairies, cheese, candy and industrial plants, according to Marcel Friis, manager of Wil-Kil Pest Control service, 637 W. Wisconsin avenue.

Today, housewives too, recognize the savings and peace of mind a professional pest control service will bring them through protection of their beautiful furniture, carpeting, drapes and wearing apparel.

No home is immune from dust or pests, whether it is new or older—not even the White House. Silverfish, ants, mice, spiders, centipedes, clover mites and many other garden pests may enter homes through cracks around doors and windows, and in deliveries of merchandise.

For this reason, Wil-Kil Home Protection Service proves to be a good investment, Friis points out.

For instance, the cost of replacing just 1 suit or dress, damaged by moths, will generally amount to more than the cost of the Home Protection Service for the entire year, plus protection for your

Journey to Jerusalem

Arrival of Magi Upsets City; They're Summoned to Herod

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The question raced through the city. It swept along the shops of the marketplace. It filtered into the crowded quarter of the poor, the Acra, and whirled through the temple courts. The question jarred Jerusalem: “Where is he that is born King of the Jews?” Old men frowned and young men wagged their heads. Clothmongers paused in their prattle and women clapped hands to their mouths. Some men scoffed; some snarled; some dreamed. Some chewed their lips, wondering.

In the middle hour of the morning, the three strangers, potentates from the distant land, had ridden into the city and halted at the “broad place” just inside the Fountain gate, asking their disturbing question. “Where is he that is born King . . . ? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.” To the three windburned travelers, the learned magi of Persia, it must have been keenly disputing to find that here in the Holy City, the very cradle of redemptive prophecy, none knew of its culmination.

Jerusalem Astir

They proceeded on up the narrow streets, their footmen bearing the gift cases. A growing throng of onlookers trailed behind them and on either side. Lancers, with bronze-tipped staves, cleared the way.

The venerable, old Melchior swayed tiredly in the saddle, and voices babbled around them.

“What manner of excellencies are these?” . . . They speak boldly of a new king . . . Will not Herod seize them? . . . Ate they mad? . . . Surely they are Asian princes . . . They wear the emblems of wizards of the Far East . . .

All Jerusalem was troubled, Matthew's gospel reports, for the question revived an age-old cry echoing out of the mists of the past in this enchanted city.

On the evening before, the impressive visitors had pitched camp in the Kidron valley outside the walls. Their dark tents with fringed awnings drew swarms of beggars and waifs, whom the magians ordered fed and given coins.

Restive Night

Now, after a restive night, they had entered the city, con-

had proclaimed Israel's God the same.

Plods Slowly

He plodded along slowly, blinking at the shimmering stones ahead.

Long ago, the powerful Darius had decreed that the “God of Daniel” is the “living God,” synonymous with Ahura-Mazda. And Cyrus the Great said likewise, even providing means to restore the Jewish Temple in all its grandeur.

Why, then, was the Divine Epiphany unknown here? Melchior ran a wrinkled hand over his face. Had he misread the accumulated perception of the age? Had he mistranslated a star?

All the world of that day had felt vague presentiments of a coming matchless leader, a champion of a golden age. Even in idol-filled Rome, the historians, Tacitus and Suetonius, and the poet Virgil spoke of it.

It had pulsed immemorially in the blood of Israel, and did so even now beneath the boot of the Roman pawa, Herod. Yet there was no inkling of its fulfillment. A wave of depression ran over Melchior.

Surely it was here, as revealed in the sacred tomes, in the musty, inspired wisdom that surpasses wisdom, that the Anointed would rise. All sorbed these tortuous secrets, both of Jew and Aryan like himself, harnessing his mind and spirit to receive it.

Children Plan Program At Sherwood

Sherwood — Children of St. John Evangelical Lutheran church, Dundas, will present a program at 7:45 p.m. Christmas eve. There will be a service at 10 a.m. Christmas.

The adult choir of St. John the Baptist Catholic church, St. John, will sing hymns before the midnight mass when it will sing the mass of St. Anceia Marigi. The Rev. Leonard Woelfel will be the celebrant.

The ladies choir of Sacred Heart Catholic church, Sherwood, will sing the mass of the shepherds by Pedro Yon at the midnight mass Christmas eve. The Rev. Henry J. Schmitt will be the celebrant.

The Knights of the Altar will sing during the pre-mass procession. The children's choir will sing the mass Christmas morning.

15 Draft Horses Come To Christmas Party

Detroit—(P)—Only 15 horses turned out for Detroit's 27th annual Christmas party for the motor city's active draft animals.

The Detroit humane society sponsored the annual party complete with oats, hay and apples for the horses and coffee and sandwiches for the owners.

Roy, a 25-year-old junk wagon puller, was judged the best animal of an impromptu show held during the party. His owner, Gales Payne, 78, was as proud of the animal as any owner of any thoroughbred entered in a hunt club show.

over obscure formulas, examined the elements and analyzed the time intervals given by Daniel to comprehend the supernatural moment.

And then the planetary heralds had come, followed by the mystic flame—the “star of Jacob” as foreseen in a trance by the gentle diviner, Balaam. Yet, here where it had beckoned, its meaning remained unrealized.

Had the search been in vain, a puerile illusion? Practical-minded men had called it so. Could they be right? Was the search for a Savior sheer folly?

Melchior sighed and suddenly he was deeply weary, drained of all energy. He hesitated unsteadily there on the sloping pavement, and again pressed a hand to his eyes. Balthasar gripped his shoulder. “Art thou faint, Rabb-Magus?”

Melchior set his jaw, waved Balthasar away and pushed on up the hill. He would not lose heart! Failure was impossible, in reality. God did not change. His covenant remained undiminished. Only man's understanding of it veered and wavered, for he judged truth in a moment's narrow scope, not the sweep of the eternity.

Doubt Overcome

They could not be wrong. The steady beat of the centuries could not be wrong, nor the great, long tide of vision, nor the holy books. Daniel could not be wrong, not he whose genius defied logic, whose endowments excelled the earthly manifestations of fire and beast, who read the inscrutable on the walls of the courts of Belsazzar. Not all the prophets could be wrong. Nor humanity's highest hope. Nor the star!

All at once, Melchior knew. In the infinite symmetries of God, while it was to Israel that the King was born, it was left to voyagers from afar to seek Him out, in token of the range of His call, the universal extent of His kingship.

On a portico outside the temple wall, the magi approached a rabbi who sat awaiting his students, and explained briefly the causes and object of their search.

Old Hunger

A light, an old hunger, darted in the Jewish teacher's eyes, and then he frowned, glancing about uneasily.

“Thou dost stir up the wells of hope,” he said in a low voice. “Withal, be heedful lest the Herodians take thy words amiss. The king is a jealous king.”

Melchior smiled wanly, and his hand traced a circle, sign of blessing. The search went on. They inquired of chief priests, in the shops, among the lowly and high.

Soon, to their tents, came a bowing courtier, garbed in ornamented robes and pendants, who addressed them unctuously: “Honored sirs, I bring thee greetings from his majesty, Herod the King, who requests audience with thee that he may attend thee in thy desires.” Melchior nodded thoughtfully.

A squad of Roman troops led them across the city to the west wall. As the gates swung open to the lavish castle, with its sweeping esplanade, fountains and arbors, trumpet blasts sounded from a tower.

Compared to the troubled buzzing of the city without, a troubled quiet descended within the palace grounds.

TV Show Helps Polish Pair Reunite

Hollywood — A television show has reunited a violin teacher and a former pupil who hadn't seen each other since the nazi blitz hit their hometown in Poland early in World War II.

Bob Hope did a Boy Scout special show last month in which the Burbank symphony orchestra appeared.

Mrs. Lotti Kluger of Lynn, Mass., thought she recognized the concertmaster and wrote the network.

It turned out that Victor De Veritch, the concertmaster, once taught violin to Mrs. Kluger in Bromberg, Poland. They had a reunion by phone yesterday.

The violinist had left for a visit to the United States just a few weeks before the outbreak of the war in 1939 and was unable to return to his homeland.

Mrs. Kluger, a teen-ager then, lost her parents in the nazi invasion but escaped to America.

De Veritch told a reporter that out of 100,000 Polish people in Bromberg when he taught there, Mrs. Kluger is the first one, other than himself, that he knows has survived.

He assumes that others may have escaped but believe most died in concentration camps. His own mother perished in one.

Train Versus Missile Battle Declared Draw

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. — The battle of train vs. missile has been declared a draw.

The question of which has priority — train or missile — came up last Tuesday during the first west coast launching of a Thor intermediate range ballistic missile.

Several trains were waved through while crews prepared to launch the Thor. The tracks pass through the base about three-quarters of a mile from the launching pads.

The air force said Thursday it has signed an agreement with the Southern Pacific railroad not to schedule missile firings to interfere with scheduled train movement. The SP, in return, agreed that unscheduled freight trains would be delayed on each side of the base during firings.

Two Schools Set Classes For Monday

Winneconne Area, Gillingham to Make Up Missed Session

Neenah — Many students were able to return to classes Friday afternoon in spite of the bomb scare for the Christmas parties and exchange of gifts that mark the last day of school before the Christmas holiday and also to take home presents made in class for their parents.

Those in Menasha though will pick up their presents when school resumes Jan. 5. Neenah children were among those going back to class Friday.

Gillingham school children will return on Monday to make up the classes not held Friday because of the county-wide bomb hoax.

Except for Allenville and the Winchester area kindergarten in the Mathison school, all grade school pupils of the Winneconne school district will return to classes for their parties and programs Monday morning. The buses will get them at the usual times but will return them home at 11 a.m.

Firemen Hurt in Crash on Way to Oshkosh Blaze

Oshkosh — Two Oshkosh firemen are in Mercy hospital as the result of an accident enroute to a fire at the Universal Foundry, 505 Warren street, Friday afternoon.

Assistant Chief Julius Staerkel, 63, and Henry R. Drexler, 44, the driver, both suffered broken ribs when their red station wagon collided with a car driven by Dale G. Brazil, 18, route 1, Fremont, at the intersection of Dawes and Pearl streets.

Oshkosh police said the fire department vehicle showed 50 feet of skidmarks before the impact and continued another 120 feet after the collision. No skidmarks were apparent for the other car.

The squad car's red light and siren were on at the time of the collision which occurred at a blind corner.

The small oil fire in the vent pipe at the foundry was extinguished by a sprinkler head.

North Korean Reds Demand Withdrawal Of New Weapons

Panmunjom — The North Korean communists Friday demanded that the U. N. command immediately withdraw the atomic-capable Matador guided missile and all other up-to-date weapons brought into South Korea in the past 18 months.

The U. N. command immediately rejected the red demands, made at a meeting of the military armistice commission.

The communist delegate, Maj. Gen. Kang Sang Ho, charged the transfer of the Matadors and other new American weapons to South Korea violated the armistice agreement to introduce no weapons not in Korea when the fighting stopped.

The U. N. command repudiated that clause of the armistice in June, 1957, saying that the communists had been violating it persistently and equipment in the south had to be brought up to date to meet the red threat.

Yule Mail Down at Menasha Post Office

Neenah Is About Equal to 1957; Both Departments Able to Keep Up With Rush

Menasha — The volume of Christmas mail is well below last year at the Menasha post office and about equal to 1957 at the Neenah postoffice, Menasha Postmaster John Backes and Neenah Postmaster George Rasmussen reported today.

Both postmasters expect a big business over the week-end and on Monday. The Neenah post office had the biggest day in its history Tuesday when 88,570 pieces of mail were canceled.

During the first 18 days of December, 322,990 pieces of mail were canceled at the Menasha post office compared to 375,030 during the same period a year ago.

The Neenah Post office reports 522,350 pieces of mail were canceled from Dec. 1 through Dec. 18, 1957, while 525,300 pieces have gone through this year.

Parcels Accepted
A total of 8,747 parcels have been accepted by the Neenah post office during the 8-day period compared to 8,744 a year ago. These parcels cost $4,374 to mail this year and $4,392 in 1957.

Both offices have been able to keep up with the rush this week with mail being sent out the same day it comes in.

Windows in both offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday and until 5 p.m. Wednesday, Christmas eve.

Two home deliveries a day will be made on Monday and Tuesday and one delivery on Sunday and Wednesday. Perishables and special delivery pieces of mail will be delivered Thursday, Christmas day.

Extra help will be kept at both post offices until all the mail is delivered Christmas eve.

Geneva Conference Adjourned 2 Weeks
Geneva — The 3-nation talks on a nuclear test ban adjourned Friday for a 2-week Christmas recess.

At the last meeting before the recess, U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth submitted technical program for the staffing and equipment of a worldwide chain of observer posts. It will be discussed after the conference resumes on Jan. 5.

Many serious obstacles remain to be overcome before agreement can be reached on anything so detailed as the organization of observer posts.

The Russians have shown no inclination to give the observer posts the truly international, impartial basis which the United States and Britain regard as essential.

Construct Decor With Imagination

Neenah — Imagination plus simple available materials can result in conversation piece centerpieces for holiday entertaining.

To add a festive note to the Christmas goodies that will be served, a tiny evergreen tree may be set in the center of a lazy susan tray. Put small evergreen boughs in a pin-point holder or use the tips from a branch. Hang dainty bells or ribbons on the miniature tree and arrange cookies and candies around the decoration.

Name tags for a dinner party can be wreaths shaped from juice can rims. Trim the rims with greens fastened on with wire and dress-up with red berries. Another place card might be colored pipe cleaners serving as candles on a white plastic foam base. Use gold foil paper for the flame and bits of green felt or springs of holly for further decor. The names can be written in red ink on white paper attached to the base.

A multitude of arrangements for a table can be made with Christmas tree ornaments of various sizes and colors, sprays of pine, spruce or balsam boughs and candles. The entire arrangement can be one hue, by spraying the branch the shade of the candles and ornaments.

A highly polished wooden bowl filled with evergreen sprays, shiny red apples and other fruit and nuts is a handsome decoration for any room.

Snow Scene

For a table arrangement, a snow scene can be made by pouring one-half cup salt, one teaspoon bluing and one cup warm water over a clean clinker in a large pan. Let stand for a few days to "grow." This makes a white mountain covered with salt snow.

In case it fails to be covered in some spots, repeat the procedure with more solution. When it is frosty, remove carefully from the pan and place on a mirror. Add small Christmas trees and figurines to complete the arrangement.

For an afternoon tea or buffet supper centerpiece, cut a star of desired size from red construction paper. Pleat paper foil as for a fan, then cut in star shape, two inches smaller than the red star. Place the foil star upon the construction paper one. Center this with a plump white candle and circle it with pine or other greenery and place bunches of cranberries on the wreath.

Fruit Cake

For variety, have your favorite fruit cake, which has been baked in an angel food tin, placed on the foil star and the wreath laid around the cake with a lighted candle in the center.

Fish bowls are good props to fill with varicolored glass balls. Tie a ribbon around the bowl and insert two candles in the container among the glass balls. For an outdoor decoration, cut two tree shapes from felt or other heavy material with a pinking shears. Stitch the two together at top and bottom and decorate with rick-rack, pieces of felt, tinsel or other trimming. Put an evergreen bough through the opening.

Furs Rival Rainbow

Chicago — The animal kingdom, like television, has converted to color this year.

All our furry friends of the forest will never recognize each other this season, as foxes turn bright green and beavers flaunt a scarlet dye job. The new colored furs are sensations of the winter coat and suit lineup, being used principally as trimmings, dyed to match the fabric.

Some of the most luxurious of the new rainbow furs are used by Dave Bellsey in a group of winter coats, suits and costumes in such brilliant colors as scarlet, green, royal blue and gold. There is, for instance, a new wraparound velours coat in forest green with a great fluffy shawl collar and cuffs of dyed-to-match fox. Another coat in gold looped mohair has wide collar and deep patch pockets of dyed-to-match beaver.

There's also a bright red walking suit with three-quarter coat, skirt and matching beaver collar, guaranteed to stop traffic in any city.

The trend toward colored furs has been developing for some time, with fur designer Esther Dorothy in the Vanguard, showing such furs as: mole, sheared fox and American broadtail in high colors that have no connection with the natural colors of the animal kingdom.

The dyed long-haired fox furs that trim some of the season's cloth coats, however, hit a new high in dramatic effect.

Family Reunion

Peterborough, Ont. — More than 1,500 members of the Staples clan gathered here for their first reunion in 33 years. The group, estimated at 6,000 in Canada, comprises descendants of Richard Staples who emigrated from Ireland in 1818.

Antique Lights Fashion Unusual Tree Ornaments

Some Christmas ornaments are passed along from one generation to another, and these make unique decorations for the tree.

If there are no holiday display pieces in attics and closets, however, you can find them in antique shops and shows.

Glass Christmas tree lights made in Germany, England and France in the 1880's and '90's were used to shield candles, and these in glowing emerald, amber, amethyst, cobalt and ruby are the most popular.

German Christmas ornaments of wax, plaster, unglazed pottery and spun glass dating from about 1850 are popular also. Some elaborate blown glass ornaments are frosted outside and decorated inside with a manger scene.

Tin ornaments bent into various shapes with colorful bits of glass on them date from the 19th century. French cup-shaped brass candle holders have a wooden ball or gilded lead star attached to provide balance which holds the candle upright.

There are hexagonal tin lanterns with inset panels of varicolored glass. A candle goes inside. Some people enjoy decorating the tree with old tin cookie molds shaped like animals and gingerbread men.

Cub Scout Awards

The couple's attendants will be Loren Anderson and Miss Nondas Kay, Mrs. Jape's sisters. After the ceremony there will be a reception at the American Legion hall from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. and the newlyweds will live at 325 Center street.

Mrs. Jape is employed at the Pizza Place while her fiancé works for Kimberly-Clark corporation.

Indians Gain 52-47 Victory Over Jays

Visitors Post 4th Straight Win; Take Lead for Keeps in 2nd Frame After 20-All Tie

Menasha — Shawano kept its perfect Mid-Eastern conference record in tact by besting Menasha 52-47 here Friday night.

The Indians have 4-0 in league play and an overall 7-0 slate. Menasha is 1-3 in the conference and 2-5 for the season.

In bowing to the defending champs, the Jays played probably their poorest game of the year. They had difficulty penetrating Shawano's defense, threw the ball away frequently, hit an unofficial 29 per cent from the floor and were just above the .500 mark from the free throw line on 15 for 29.

Had Menasha come up with an effort similar to those in its losses to Two Rivers and Kimberly, Shawano might have gone home with its first loss.

6-Point Period
Even a 6-point third quarter by Shawano couldn't assist the Jays much. They only made eight in the same period and to add to their woes, Shawano didn't commit a foul in that frame.

The Jays came up with a dandy comeback in the second quarter to gain a tie score but a Shawano spurt of six straight points put it ahead for keeps.

The Menashas were down 16-9 near the end of the first period and trailed 16-10 at the frame's end. With the second segment half gone, they managed a 20-all tie but two free throws by Phil Timm and a basket apiece by Bill Krenker and Ren Ketchenago put the Indians in the driver's seat. Menasha managed to get within two points later but trailed 32-28 at halftime.

Cut Spread to 2
The visitors made three of their six third quarter points at the start of the frame for a 35-28 advantage. Menasha later got the spread down to three at 35-32 but trailed 38-34 when the period was over. Menasha came within two points at 38-36 and 40-38 early in the fourth period but in

31-Point 2nd Period Sparks Raiders to Win Over Neenah

NHS Falls 68-55 Although It Equals Foes Field Goal Total

Two Rivers — A blistering 31-point output in the second period sparked Two Rivers to a 68-55 Mid-Eastern conference win over Neenah here Friday night. The Raiders have a 3-1 league mark to 2-2 for the Red and White.

Coach Ole Jorgensen's Rockets equaled Two Rivers' field goal production (20) but were outgunned 28-15 from the free throw stripe.

The Rockets had an early 7-1 lead and were in front 14-9 at the end of the first period. Raider Coach Warren Otto, unhappy with the first quarter performance of his starters, jerked four, substituted a quartet of second stringers at the start of the second period and they sparked the uprising.

Big Gunners
Big gunners were Al DeRusha and Jim Becker, who had 11 and 10 markers respectively in the 31 point second period.

The Raiders caught their guests at 16-all and with 1:10 left to play in the half had upped their lead to 34-22. Their advantage was 40-25 at halftime.

Neenah made a gallant comeback in the third period to cut the spread down to three points at 48-45 with 24 seconds left. Two Rivers made the last two points for a 50-45 score going into the final segment.

Rockets Make Bid
Neenah made its bid with 3:13 left in the third period when it was on the short end of a 46-31 score. In a little better than a minute, the Rockets connected on eight free throws while at the same time Two Rivers only made two, making the score 48-39.

Claims Soviets Bringing Up Siamese Twins

London — The Russians are bringing up 8-year-old Siamese twin girls in the hope they will become scientists able to study their own handicap.

The story of the twins, Macha and Dacha, is told in the current issue of the medical journal, the Lancet, by Dr. J. Tizzard. The doctor, a psychiatrist member of the British Medical Research council, saw an hour-long film about the twins during a recent visit to Russia.

He said they are joined at the hip, have one normal leg each and share a third which ends in a double foot. They are able to control this leg and tuck it up behind them. They are normal from the waist up.

Tizzard reported: "Despite their extraordinary handicap, the girls can walk, ride a tricycle, and appear able to lead a surprisingly normal life."

"They are pretty children—happy, mischievous and affectionate."

Giving their backers' nerves a chance to simmer down for the first time this season, Manitowoc's basketball Shipbuilders hammered out a "no-strain" 65-47 victory over Appleton here Friday night.

In each of their first four games (two wins, two losses), the Ships went down to the final minute of play before a verdict was reached. Last night, there was serious doubt about the outcome only in the first four or five minutes.

Stymied by a Manitowoc zone defense, the Terrors fell behind, 13-1, at the outset and trailed, 31-16, at halftime. The Terrors, in their only sharp quarter (the third) cut their deficit to 10 points but faded badly again in the fourth.

As the Ships continued to prove a worthy successor to such recent Appleton harassers as Greg Ripp and Bill Nelson.

Two years ago, Ripp scored 26 and 28 points against the Terrors. Last season, Nelson, coined 28 and 24. Last night, Hall whiplashed 11 of 18 south-paw field shots through the nets and added seven of nine free throws as the Appleton majority of a gallery of about 1,500 groaned.

Kimberly — Paced by Don Hearden's record-breaking 46-point scoring spree, the Kimberly Paper-makers overwhelmed New London, 88-58, here Friday night.

Hearden led the Paper-makers, who shot a blistering 44 per cent from the field for the night, as he pumped in 13 field goals and made 20 of 23 attempts from the free throw line. The old one-game record for the Mid-Eastern conference was 44 set by Marty Splitterger of Clintonville against New London in 1953-4.

Sixth in a Row
The victory was the sixth straight of the season for Coach Gil Frank's club and its fourth in league play.

Kimberly was never in trouble as Hearden got them off to a flying start by pushing cold in 10 markers in the initial period and pacing the squad degrees. The field is in fairly to a 20-10 lead. The junior guard was sensational around the bucket as he drove 12,000 bleacher seats and 5,000 through defenders and rammed home easy layups. Five of his field goals came on at the Stadium.

Hearden had 15 consecutive free throws before the game started and ran the clock to a sensational 24 time is 1 p.m. CST. The winner goes into the

Sellout Crowd To See Browns Battle Giants

Eastern Powers Duel for Chance To Meet Colts

BY JACK HANDB

New York —(P)— For the third and positively last time, the Cleveland Browns and New York Giants meet Sunday for the Eastern conference title of the National Football league.

Beating Cleveland once a year is more than most clubs can handle. The Giants already have done it twice despite the tremendous power running of Jimmy Brown. Now they must do it a third time—or else.

Yankee stadium will be bulging with a sellout crowd of 72,000 to watch the league's best defense again collide with Brown, the best ground gainer in league history.

Good Behavior

Only the weatherman can spoil the party and he promises to be on his good behavior. Good, that is, compared to last Sunday when snow turned the stadium into a Christmas card setting. They say it will be the clear and cold with the highest thermometer reading around 24 degrees. The field is in fairly to a 20-10 lead. The junior guard was sensational around the bucket as he drove 12,000 bleacher seats and 5,000 through defenders and rammed home easy layups. Five of his field goals came on at the Stadium.

Television (CBS) will carry the game to all corners of the nation except for a blackout of the New York area. Game time is 1 p.m. CST. The winner goes into the

The powerful well-balanced armers were led by quarterback Bob Schneidenbach, Newark, N.J.

Army halfback Travis Buggs Gary, Ind., was the outstanding player of the losing side.

Packers are in No Hurry to Hire General Manager, Head Coach

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay—When will the Packers have a new general manager and a new head coach?

Your guess is as good as ours. But this much is certain: The Packers won't be panicked into hiring a GM and/or a head coach in a great hurry.

Packer President Dominic Olejniczak said as much Friday after accepting the resignations of the last three members of the coaching staff—Nick Skoric, "Breezy" Reid and Jack Morton. Head Coach Ray McLean resigned Wednesday and Alde Ray Richards quit football entirely Monday.

Till Feb. 1
"We don't have to act immediately. Olejniczak said, pointing out that the four assistant coaches will work with the Packers until Feb. 1. McLean, who has taken a job as backfield coach of the Detroit

Lions, will end his duties Jan. 1.

"They volunteered and were happy to stay on until Feb. 1," the Packer prexy said, "and we appreciate that."

The four assistants will cover bowl games and work with scout Jack Vainisi on the 1959 draft, which will take place during the league's annual convention in Philadelphia Jan. 21.

Also continuing work is General Manager Verne Lewellen who is closing out business affairs on the 1958 season and working out some details for 1959, including the exhibition schedule.

The Packer corp. revamped the method of operation this week, giving the new general manager broader powers than those allowed Lewellen. Lewellen would be welcome to apply for the new position, which would create many new problems due to the additional responsibility. Who will come first — the general manager or the coach.

Since the GM will be charged with hiring the coach, it would be assumed that the GM would come first. However, it's possible (1) the GM and coach could be the same person or (2) they could be hired at the same time.

At any rate, the next few weeks promise to keep pro football's hot stove league abouling.

Ghosts Jolt Truckers To Score First Win

Lee Weyenberg Hits 30 Points in 76-54 M-E Victory

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school cagers scored their first win of the season here Friday night, rolling to a convincing 76-54 win over the Clintonville Truckers.

Kaukauna was paced by Lee Weyenberg who tallied 30 points, Weyenberg high for the season. He scored 12 points in the opening quarter, eight in the second and third and then was held to two in the final period as the invaders began to jam up the middle making it impossible for his mates to feed him.

Ghosts Take Lead

The winners jumped off to an early lead and held the advantage throughout most of the contest. The Truckers took an 11-10 lead with about four minutes gone in the first period, but a tip-in and free throw by Weyenberg put Kaukauna ahead for good seconds later.

The game started off slowly. Then, Weyenberg scored on a jump shot, added a free throw and Gary Venevnhoven hit on a drive-in for the Ghosts. The rest of the period turned into a contest between Weyenberg and Pete Schnorr of the Truckers.

Schnorr tallied nine points in the period, mainly on medium push shots. Weyenberg scored on hook shots and added four points on charity tosses. The Ghosts held an 18-14 lead at the end of the period.

The second quarter saw Kaukauna again assume control early and maintain the advantage throughout. The Ghosts led, 36-28, at halftime.

The Ghosts raced to a 59-40 advantage at the three-quarter mark. Scoring for the winners was evenly divided in the 23-point period with Ron Busse, Myron Zachowski and Bill Borchardt connecting when Weyenberg was covered.

Clintonville started to use the press in the final frame and for a time it appeared it might prove effective as the Truckers frequently stole the ball from Kaukauna but were unable to turn ball control into points. The Truckers closed the gap to 16 points midway through the period but once again Kaukauna took control to win going away.

Schnorr paced the losers with 13 points while Wayne Moder and Bill Fritsch each had 10. Borchardt hit 11 points for the Kaws.

Manty Hands Terrors 2nd FRVC Defeat

the five games in which one or another of the deadly trivirate has been the scoring kingpin. In all, John Jung-coached quintets now own an 8-3 edge over Dick Emanuel-directed Terror units.

The loss, Appleton's second in three Fox River Valley conference starts and fourth in five pre-Christmas games, over-all, was its first off-key performance since the 30-point shellacking by Kimberly on inaugural night. Defending champion, Manty is now a 2-1 for FRVC play.

To kill a zone defense requires good marksmanship from the 15- to 25-foot range. The Terrors had no gunner to fill that role last night—except in the third quarter when John Nussbaum blasted through five of his first six shots.

In the first quarter, the Terrors not only had trouble finding the range (2-for-10) but had quite a problem even getting their shots away. At least seven times (five of them in succession) during the initial period, the Terrors lost the ball—via traveling, wild passes or interceptions by an aggressively alert Ship defense.

First Goal

Six minutes, 30 seconds elapsed before Nussbaum zeroed in for AHS' first field goal. Larold Lodholz, the only other Terror besides Nussbaum to score more than a lone basket in the game, also hit from the corner just before the quarter ended.

"Bucky" LeClair, who provided noble help for Hall with 16 points, scored the first three markers of the contest. Bob Shaw and Hall added baskets before the Terrors ruined the shutout at 7-1 on Lodholz' free throw with 3:01 gone.

The Ships, firing fast and often from a variety of sectors, made 14 of 37 first-half shots. Their biggest first-quarter lead was 12 points (13-1) and their widest advantage in the second stanza was 18 (31-13).

AHS was on target only four times in its first 23 shots and finished with 6-for-26 in the half.

Unable to Get Closer

The Terrors came back from the halftime pause with a pressing defense and a display of sharpshooting that gave their loyalists reason to believe that a monumental comeback was not out of the realm of possibility. Within a 3-minute span the Nussbaum-powered attack reduced the AHS deficit from 18 points (33-15) to 10 (37-27).

But, Manty broke the press and never cooled off sufficiently to let the hosts get any closer. In the last quarter, it was all Manitowoc again. Hall left the game with 2-33 remaining, giving him almost a point a minute for the 29:27 he played.

For the game, Manty scored goals at a 39.4 per cent accuracy pace. The Terrors finished with 30.9 per cent.

Nussbaum and Lodholz produced 17 and 15 points, respectively, of the Terror total.

Lodholz sustained an injured ankle and was forced to leave about midway through the final period.

American Duo Wins

U. S., Aussies to Play in 15th Straight Challenge Round

Perth, Australia—(AP)—Hamilton Richardson and Alex Olmedo chopped down Italians Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola, 7-9, 6-4, 13-11, 7-5 today to set the stage for the fifteenth consecutive United States-Australia Davis cup challenge round.

The doubles victory over the Italians gave the U. S. team a 3-0 lead over Italy in the best-of-5 interzone final and makes Sunday's final two singles matches mere formalities.

The challenge round is scheduled for Brisbane Dec. 29-31.

The Italians were not discouraged after losing the first two singles. They roared back today and fought for every point, and the fact that there were just three service breaks in the first three sets is adequate testimony to their skill.

Richardson showed flashes of brilliance, especially in the first set, when his service was virtually untouchable. But the low-hanging clouds seemed to bother him, and he donned eyeglasses in the second set.

He lost his grip on his racket twice and looked tired in the third set. But he kept going and once the Americans won that one by breaking Sirola after no fewer than a half-dozen set points, it was all over but the business of mopping up.

Scoring balance continues to be the Warrior strong point. Mike Moran leads with 107. Don Kojis is next with 98. Ace rebounder Walt Mangham is third with 94 and Jim McCoy is next with 90. Fifth starter and playmaker Jim Kollar has 32.

Algoma Expands Slim 29-28 Lead in Second Half

Seymour — An aggressive Algoma High school basketball team handed Seymour its first defeat of the season, 64-45, here Friday night.

Leading only, 29-28, at the intermission, Algoma capitalized on a press and fast break to win going away. The last quarter was disastrous for the Indians as their mistakes and cold shooting led to a 17 to 4 Algoma advantage.

Algoma's Bohman poured in 24 points to pace both teams. Phil Heuser and Larry Mory each hit nine points for the losers.

The loss was Seymour's first in four Northwestern Wisconsin conference games and six overall. Algoma now has an identical 3-1 league record.

rich championship playoff, Dec. 28, against the Baltimore Colts. As that game will be played in a big ball park, either New York or Cleveland, and the players get 70 per cent of the gate, including the $200,000 TV money, a winning share should be over $4,500.

The Giants' sturdy defensive unit is hale and hearty, ready to take another shot at stopping the fabulous Mr. Brown. But the offensive unit is crippled.

Alex Webster, the club's leading pass catcher and runner in last Sunday's 13-10 victory, didn't even work out Friday. Both knees are damaged, but he probably will be in there as long as he can hobble. Jack Stroud, a regular tackle, didn't play last week and isn't due to start.

Barry to Play

Al Barry, a regular guard, has an infected toe, but probably will play. "Buzz" Guy, a handyman guard or tackle, is out with a chipped bone in his ankle. To cap it all, Pat Summerall, whose 49-yard field goal beat the Browns last Sunday, has been bothered all week by a leg injury.

Charley Conerly's passing beat the Browns in Cleveland Nov. 2 when he threw for three touchdowns in a 21-17 game. It probably will be Conerly chucking again as the main threat of the Giants' offense.

Cleveland's bread and butter game all season has been Brown's strong running and the field goals of Lou Groza. Milt Plum passed only enough to take the pressure off Brown, although he has a talented receiver in Ray Renfro. Coach Paul Brown has indicated he may do more throwing this week.

If the score is tied after regulation time, they will keep going to a sudden death ending. The first team to score a point will win. Because of this factor, the books are quoting no points this week. In man-to-man betting the Giants are 11-10 favorites.

New London Woman Killed As Auto Rolls

Gary V. Swick, 28, of Milwaukee, was unconscious and reported in critical condition.

The Westphal couple's car had stalled and three youths pushed it in Stephensville. After getting the car started, Westphal drove south on MM with the three youths following at about 30 miles an hour, they told county police. After rounding a curve, Westphal apparently lost control and his car skidded about 120 feet and turned end over end in the ditch.

The youths who pushed the car were Clyde Main, route 2, Shiocton, Ronald Van Straten, route 1, Hortonville, and Lee Doughey, route 1, Hortonville.

At the accident scene were Hortonville Police Chief Ira Dominowski, 1, Undersheriff Robert Heinritz and County Policemen Stanley Arnold and E. A. Welch.

Funeral services for Mrs.

Westphal will be at 1 p. m. Monday at Emanuel Lutheran church, New London, with burial in Floral Hill cemetery, New London. Friends may call at the Cline and Hanson funeral home after 1 p. m. Sunday until 10 a. m. Monday and then at the church.

She was born April 13, 1908, in the town of Matteson.

She is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Ryan Keely, Wauwatosa; Mrs. Lester Payne, Milwaukee; Miss Karen Strand, at home; one step-daughter, Mrs. William Handrick, Manawa; three sons, LaVerne Strand and Roger Strand, both of West Allis, and Dale Strand, at home; one step-son, Barney Westphal, with the navy in Ireland; three brothers, Phillip, Clyde and Earl Eckhardt, all of New London; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Meinhardt, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Earl Hedding, Sunnymede, Calif., and 10 grandchildren.

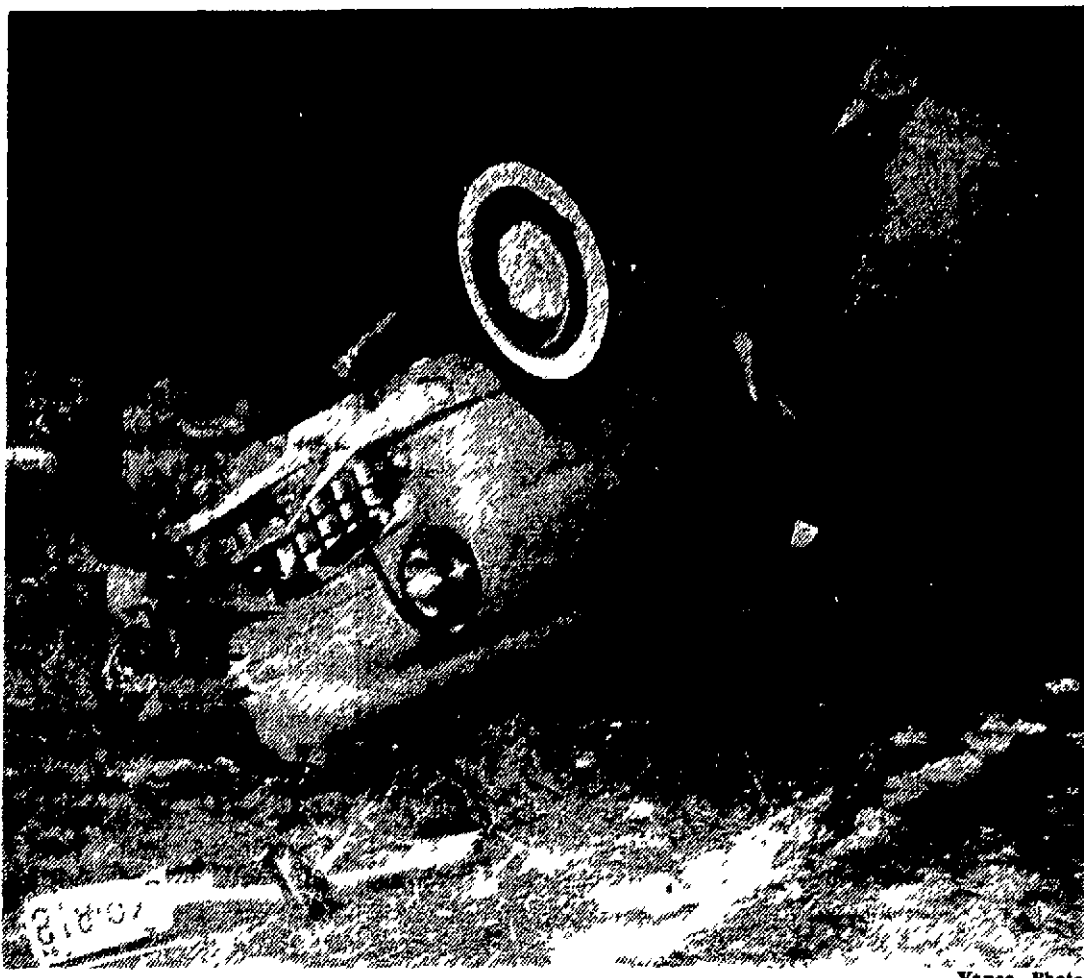

In the turnpike crash, Riley and Swick were standing behind their car, about to be pulled by a service vehicle back onto the snowy turnpike when the car driven by Knier apparently slid off the highway. Riley and Swick were pinned against the truck.

With Knier on the way home for the holidays were four other students. They were James Van de Loo, 22, Kaukauna; Donald F. Richards, 21, Sheboygan, Gerald A. Verda, 21 Milwaukee, and William Sell, 22, Hales Corners.

Police Find Stolen Car Five Hours After It's Reported Missing

City police found an abandoned stolen car in the 500 block of N. Appleton street about midnight Friday, less than five hours after it was stolen.

Stanley Young, Schultz Mobile Home park, Highway 10, reported his car missing from the 500 block of N. Richmond street, at 7.44 p. m., police said.

Mrs. Luella S. Westphal, 49, 809 N. Water street, New London, was killed early this morning when her husband, Barney, 53, lost control of his car on County Trunk MM about one-half mile south of Stephensville. Her husband was taken to New London Community hospital, where his condition is said to be good.

Search Continues for Bomb Scare Callers

Authorities in Appleton, Oshkosh, Winnebago County Have No Suspects

No suspects—or bombs—have been found in Friday's making up of classroom time bomb scares which closed schools in Appleton and Winnebago county.

Appleton police, Oshkosh police and Winnebago county authorities are continuing their investigation into the identities of the anonymous callers.

Appleton and Winnebago county schools were closed Friday and Oshkosh High school was evacuated Thursday afternoon after a caller stated a bomb had been planted there. The Oshkosh department has investigated several anonymous calls and information provided the department by a tipster led to nothing.

Cost of the Appleton search and disruption of school schedules is difficult to estimate, but Appleton police and firemen's search of the 20 buildings cost well over $400. There were 16 firemen and 20 policemen working for about six hours during the search.

Nearly $10,000 The Appleton public school system's teaching budget shows $1,795,563 per year for salaries—one day of this would represent nearly $10,000 in teacher salaries. This does not include Lawrence college, Appleton Vocational school, the parochial schools or maintenance employees.

Administrators in Appleton public and parochial schools have not decided if, when or how time lost in the search will be made up. Only two schools, St. Mary's and the vocational and adult school, reopened in the afternoon.

Three Appleton schools will continue classes next week, as planned before the bomb scare. Christmas vacation for students at St. Therese Catholic and St. Paul Lutheran schools will begin with closing of classes Tuesday afternoon. At Sacred Heart Catholic school, vacation will begin with the end of the school day Monday.

All other Appleton schools, public and parochial, officially begin vacations Monday. John P. Mann, superintendent of public schools, said.

Warden Sees Good, Bad in Deer Shoot

Handling Violations Best in Recent Years, Hadland Asserts; Rifle Accidents Cause Concern

Post-Crescent Staff Bureau
Madison—From the viewpoint of the conservation warden, there were good and bad features of the November deer shooting season which brought a near-record bag of about 100,000 animals.

George Hadland, chief of the state enforcement division, told the conservation commission here that the cooperation by local magistrates and prosecutors in the handling of law violations was the best in his long service as an enforcement officer.

But there are too many fatal and non-fatal shooting accidents, he said, and the legis-

Sighting of Live Fisher in State Called Good Sign

The sighting of live fisher within the Nicolet national forest of northeastern Wisconsin is a "good indication" that the experimental stocking program there may be succeeding, the conservation department says.

The department has been trying to restock the fur-bearing animal, which was virtually extinct in the state, in the deep woods of the national forest.

One of the favorite foods of the fisher is the porcupine, which leads foresters to believe that the fisher colony may provide some forestry benefits. The porcupine girdles forest trees and kills them.

Another County Asks State to Restore Old Bounty System

The Forest county board doesn't want to exert any political pressure upon the Wisconsin conservation commission, in the words of a resolution sent to the commission.

But it wants the commission to know that the elimination of state bounty payments for the destruction of animal predators "is causing the disappearance of small game in these parts."

The commission should ask the legislature to restore bounties, in the view of the Forest county supervisors.

Condemnation Will be Used To Get Lands

Privately Owned Property Lies Within Public Parks

The state conservation commission will resort to condemnation to secure strategic parcels of privately owned lands within the boundaries of several state parks and forests.

State park officials have in effect been directed by the commissioners to take such action, rare in the history of the state recreational lands acquisition program, because several private owners have declined to negotiate for the sale of their holdings.

The problem was pointed up by the recital of the efforts of the state park division to buy from a private owner 40 acres of land near the center of the big and heavily used Peninsula state park in Door county, one of the best known in the state and a favorite of thousands of tourists.

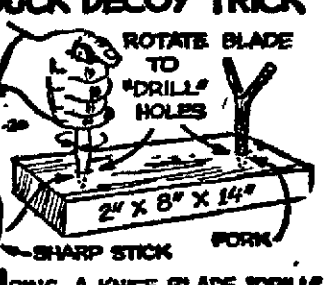

The owner is now selling one acre plots to others; it was reported, a fact which threatens the future public usefulness of the park as a whole, officials said.

The state men have had similar difficulties with a land-owner in Washington county who holds several acres of land containing one of the best of the earth mounds built by pre-historic Indians on the boundary of the existing Lizard Mound state park there.

Only a few times in the last several decades has the commission started court action to condemn private property, according to its powers as defined by law.

Generally the numerous and large land purchases have been arranged on an amicable basis, according to value appraisals, and sometimes with life tenancy granted to the sellers.

Game Land Buying Costly Maneuver

Cite Refuge in Rock, Walworth Counties Which State Is Seeking

Buying private lands for game management purposes can be an extremely costly affair.

The financial problems in the state's accelerated fish and game land buying program were illustrated during a discussion by conservation commissioners of a conservation department proposal to negotiate for the purchase of land along Turtle creek in Rock and Walworth counties.

Ultimately the department hopes to get a bout 2,320 acres of land in the neighborhood which is famed as a wintering ground for geese and now features a state goose refuge on leased land. Flocks of as many as 5,000 Canada geese have wintered there for many years.

The commission approved the boundaries of the proposed purchase project, but with plain stated skepticism about the land prices involved.

A department memorandum guessed that the land can be had for about $100 per acre, for a total of $232,000 for the project which will be underwritten to the extent of 75 per cent by available federal wildlife aids.

But Commissioner Arthur MacArthur of Janesville doubted that much of the land can be had at any price, and said the average would be considerably higher than $100.

Negotiate Options
Commissioner Guido Rahr of Manitowish appeared doubtful about the justification for such prices, but made no objection to the technical outlining of potential project boundaries.

State game men will attempt to negotiate purchase options with owners, which will be submitted to the commission for approval at intervals over the next decade.

J. R. Smith, head of the state game division, warmly endorsed the acquisition proposal.

"This is the one major goose wintering area in this state," he explained.

Better Management of Farm Woodlots Sought

Seek to Add Such Training at Some Colleges for Agriculture Teachers

The all-important farm woodlands of Wisconsin are promised better management with all involved agencies agreeing that agriculture instructors be equipped to teach forest management as well as other phases of farm operations. A survey of agriculture instructors revealed that less than 10 per cent of them had received any forest management training and they felt they needed it.

Farm woodlands are generally unmanaged. They make poor pastures for cattle and when pastured they are poor producers of wood. Collectively they represent a potentially great producer of forest products and could be an important contributor to farm economy.

The annual agriculture education conference, made up of the training institutions, the University of Wisconsin and the state colleges at Platteville and River Falls, has gone in record to add forest management training for agriculture teachers.

Small Woodlands
A letter to the training colleges from conservation Director L. P. Voigt said: "Recently the U. S. forest service and the Wisconsin conservation department jointly sponsored a meeting to explore ways and means of improving the productivity of our small woodlands. Prominent among the suggestions made at this meeting was the desirability of reaching the farm youth with instruction in farm woodland management through normal educational channels and, in particular, through the instruction given in high school vocational agriculture courses."

The conservation commission feels strongly that adequate college level instruction in certain phases of forestry for prospective agricultural instructors and county agents is most important in improving the management of our small forest ownerships.

The conference also went on record favoring the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture proposal to set up a summer graduate course in forest management. The course of several weeks would probably be conducted at Devils Lake State park.

Water Zoning Plan Put Up For Consideration by Public

Bold Concept for Management of State Lakes Supported by Nelson

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Madison—Water use zoning, a bold new concept for the management of the state's thousands of recreational lakes, has been tossed out for public consideration by the man who will be the state's chief executive officer during the next two years.

Besides indicating that he may take a more personal interest in conservation policy-making than have most past governors, Gov.-elect Gaylord Nelson showed an insistent concern for some form of public regulation that would provide a system of protection of the rival interests in recreational water use.

Wants Report
He instructed the conservation department to consider the matter and to bring a report to the legislature at the first opportunity. He spoke in such tones as to suggest that if the department is unable or unwilling to do so, he may take the initiative himself.

As Nelson sees it, the rapidly increasing recreational use of water requires some form of public rule in order to avoid chaos and the eventual decline of Wisconsin resort industries that depend upon recreational waters for the attraction of the rich tourist trade.

As he talked, Nelson sounded like a man who might have been awakened in a lake shore cabin last summer by a motor-boater cavorting with a high speed craft under his bedroom window.

Varied Interests
There are some 9,000 lakes in the state, he recalled. The first task must be to classify them according to size and major uses. Some of them are remote enough and so little Richard Wroblewski with 10 German brown trout took the biggest catch award.

Donald Peters, manager of the locker plant, certified the weights and sizes.

Door County Protests Early Bass Opening

Door county sportsmen continue to protest the action of the conservation commission in opening the black bass season there on June 7—as provided in the 1959 state fishing code—instead of the traditional date of July 1.

The conservation commission has reported receiving a petition containing 570 signatures asking for a restoration of the July 1 bass opening. The commission filed the petition without comment.

Offers New Plan For Disbursement Of License Fees

Officials of Vilas county have offered a new plan for the disbursement of state fishing license receipts.

The state conservation department should spend its fisheries budget in county allocations figured according to the county ratios of total fishing license sales, according to a resolution of the Vilas county board of supervisors.

Such a system would probably bring about a heavier fish management program in Vilas county, which annually accounts for a rich sale of fishing permits to thousands of non-resident anglers.

used as to present no problems.

But others are frequented by fishermen, water ski fans and power boat enthusiasts, he noted. The high powered motor boat on a small lake can disrupt the fishing for the whole lake, he pointed out. With more than half a million fishermen in the state and with upwards of 200,000 motor boats, the time is inevitably nearing when some kind of division of water use rights must be established. It could be by classifying lakes as to permitted use, or by establishing time zones for conflicting interests.

The new governor made it clear he wants the new legislature to consider the matter, if only in a preliminary way. The legislature in January will get an interim committee report on motor boating regulations in general, which will probably lead to a system of state registration and licensing of craft.

Local Pressures
Nelson said he is aware that some local units of government already have enacted lake use ordinances because of local pressures, but he doubted that such local laws will be enough.

The legislature provided a precedent for a statewide program with the force of state law, he recalled, when it set up standards many years ago for land use ordinances which have since been approved by many of the counties of Wisconsin. Such ordinances restrict land use by residential, agricultural and commercial zones.

7,000 Fish, Game Licenses Sold in Calumet County

Chilton — More than 7,000 hunting and fishing licenses were sold to sportsmen in Calumet county during 1958, according to a report from Roland E. Miller, county clerk.

Resident fishing licenses totaled 4,221; non-resident fishing licenses were sold to 138 persons, and 21 fishermen purchased 15-day combination licenses. Sportsmen licenses were sold to 362 persons.

Small game licenses were bought by 1,607 and deer hunting licenses sales totaled 1,247. One non-resident archer license was sold and one non-resident small game license was purchased. Non-resident big game licenses were purchased by four persons.

Public Hearings on Regulatory Policy In State Scheduled

The frog harvesting business will come under closer scrutiny soon.

Frogs have been taken and sold in the food market for generations, with only moderate state regulations covering the business. In recent years biological supply firms have provided an additional market which has enabled the development of several sizable frog sales houses in the state.

Public Hearings
The conservation commission has announced it will hold a series of public hearings on regulatory policy. Should there be a shorter harvest season, and a restrictive bag limit?

The commission has indicated it is willing to repeal the order of last year—scheduled to become effective in 1959—that would have set a strict bag limit and shortened the season.

The frog is an element in the diet of many wild birds and animals.

Public Support
Conservation wardens originally suggested the new regulations for frog harvesting to the conservation commission, a fact that raises the possibility of some public support for a harvesting control law.

The rules the commission adopted a year ago, and now held in abeyance pending the record of the hearings, would have closed the harvest season in October, instead of December, and set a daily bag limit of 150 frogs. Commercial frog men say that such a limit would put them out of business. Heretofore there has been no bag limit on the species.

Seeks Law to Protect State Roadside Scenery

The Vilas county board of supervisors wants a strong law for the protection of roadside scenery.

It has petitioned the conservation commission to submit to the legislature a bill that would prohibit the cutting of any green or growing trees on any land within 200 feet of the centerline of any public highway in the county.
